IN MEMORIAM.

COLLINS—In loving memory of Maria Louisa Collins, who fell asleep in Jesus April 9, 1913, at Newtownmountkennedy.

Only beyond—earth's veil between
Our dear one and the things unseen,
While here we bow 'mid sorrow keen,
She knows Him there.
Only beyond—all parting o'er,
Safe with the ransomed gone before,
Waiting for us on yonder shore,
She knows Him there.

Inserted by her loving father.

MacPHAIL—Second Anniversary—In loving memory of Francis W. MacPhail, who died at his residence, Bay View House, Wicklow, on 9th April, 1918. R.I.P.

A loving father, good and kind,
Loved by those he left behind.
Forget him—no, we never will,
As time rolls on we miss him still.

Inserted by his loving wife and children.

MORE THAN EVER

is it essential in these strenuous days to bestow careful attention upon the General Health. The pace of life, ever growing faster, makes very great demands upon the men and women of the present time. [illegible] gather leisurely "in the good old days," as they are sometimes called. A breakdown in health to-day is, unfortunately quite a frequent occurrence. Often it comes gradually, commencing with some slight—apparently trifling—indisposition; but there is always the danger that, unless the proper measures are taken in time, the trouble may have serious results. There is one thing to remember and that is, that a breakdown in health may, as often as not, have its origin in derangement of the digestive system. These important organs soon begin to suffer from the effects of hurried meals, worry, overwork, insufficient exercise and recreation and lack of fresh air. Pains after eating, flatulence, constipation, sick headaches, bilious attacks and other well-known distressing symptoms make their appearance. Now is the time to take Beecham's Pills and to keep on taking them until you feel quite fit again. The reputation of this great digestive medicine is world-wide. Its success in the relief and removal of digestive troubles has been remarkable—perhaps unparalleled. You are quite safe in taking

THE IRISH PAPER MILLS CO., CLONDALKIN, ASK EVERYBODY TO SAVE WASTE PAPER

It is not only the patriotic duty but is in the individual interests of every man, woman, and child in the country to collect every available Scrap of Paper, so that the Irish Paper Mills may be kept running through this time of shortage of paper-making materials.

THE IRISH PAPER MILLS COMPANY guarantee that packs will be supplied and maximum prices paid by their Contractors, Messrs. M. Duan and Co.

BANKS, PUBLIC OFFICES, and BUSINESS FIRMS having large stocks of old paper should get rid of it now, as the shortage of paper-making material is becoming very acute, and the problem is to keep Mills running.

THE IRISH PAPER MILLS COMPANY are in a position to guarantee the destruction and repulping of ALL grades of paper, and their contractors will, if necessary, in the case of private documents, prepare the waste paper on the seller's premises and have it taken direct to the Mills and destroyed under the eye of a representative of the seller.

The minimum quantity of waste paper which can be taken in any one consignment is one cwt. Carriage on smaller quantities would be prohibitive.

Send samples, and highest prices will be quoted per return, and cash remitted promptly on receipt of goods.

DUBLIN PORT AND DOCKS BOARD.

EXPORT OF FOODSTUFFS.

ALDERMAN BYRNE'S THREAT.

At the weekly meeting of the Dublin Port and Docks Board yesterday, Mr. John Hollwey, J.P., Chairman, presiding, Alderman Byrne again drew attention to the falling off in the amount of dredging in the river.

The Chairman said that there were two ships in the river at present drawing 24 feet, and there was no trouble whatever.

It was decided to ask the Engineer to report on the difference in the amount, which was 10,342 tons, as compared with 15,881 tons in the corresponding week last year.

A letter was read from Mr. James McCabo, Shercock, Co. Cavan, pointing out that he recently sent a 10 cwt. motor car from Dublin to Glasgow, Glasgow to London, and London to Dublin, and the charges respectively were as follow—£5 6s. 0d.; £4 10s. 2d.; and £7 13s. 0d. The long journey from Glasgow to London was the cheapest.

Alderman Byrne said that this was one of the grievances that Dublin merchants were complaining about for the last forty years. The railway companies and the shipping companies did everything to facilitate cross-Channel arrangements, and did nothing to help them at home. A case of eggs from Galway direct to Dublin cost twice as much as to have it sent indirectly via Liverpool.

Mr. Barry said that the Ministry of Transport had nothing to do with the freights charged by these routes. The letter should not have been placed on the agenda.

Alderman Byrne—It stood on somebody's corns.

The letter was referred to the Ministry of Transport.

Alderman Byrne asked whether there was any way of stopping the present large export of butter and bacon. Butter would be 5s. per lb. next week, and there would be none at Christmas.

Mr. Baird said that, while Alderman Byrne might have to pay 5s. per lb. for his butter, he should not forget that the Irish people would reap the benefit.

Alderman Byrne—The benefit will go to the creameries and a few bacon curers, who are getting fortunes out of the people of England, who made fortunes as a result of the war. I do not mind a fair share going across the water, but I think it is most unfair to see big loads of butter leaving the North Wall all this week. If the shipowners or exporters do not tie their hands a little other people will take steps to prevent supplies going out of the country.

Mr. Baird said that it was to the interests of the Board to have all the exports possible.

Mr. McCullagh reminded Alderman Byrne that large supplies of foodstuffs were coming into the country.

The subject was not further discussed.

A recommendation of the Finance Committee in their minutes was to the effect that they could take no action in reference to a letter of the Dublin Tenants' Association, regarding the obtaining of vacant rooms for the employés of the Board.

Alderman Byrne said that the shortage of housing at the North Wall was becoming serious. As much as 15s. a week was being paid for a single room.

The Chairman remarked that there was no money for housing at present.

Mr. Baird—Look at the debit balance of £17,084.

No action was taken in the matter.

CHARGE AGAINST DUBLIN SHOPKEEPER.

ALLEGED OBJECTIONABLE LITERATURE.

Before Mr. Lupton, K.C., in the Northern Police Court, yesterday, Charles Blake, Middle Abbey street, Dublin, was summoned to show cause why certain books, alleged to be of an objectionable character, should not be destroyed.

Mr. J. W. Davis prosecuted for the authorities, and Mr. James Brady appeared for the defendant.

The police gave evidence that the books were exhibited for sale, and that when a constable bought two of them he also obtained a price list and leaflets of an objectionable nature.

Mr. Henry O'Connor, Secretary of the Y.M.C.A. in Upper Sackville street, and a member of the White Cross Vigilance Committee, and also Mr. W. R. McGuirk, Secretary of the Irish Vigilance Association, said that in their opinion the books were objectionable.

For the defence it was stated that the books were written by people of eminence, and had been mentioned by The Times, the British Medical Journal, and other publications in the notices of books published.

Mr. Lupton said that in his opinion the books and other printed matter were objectionable, and he ordered their destruction.

Mr. Brady gave notice of appeal, the property meantime to be retained by the police.

SPORTING NEWS.

WARWICK MEETING—YESTERDAY.

Rain fell steadily at Warwick yesterday afternoon, and the going was heavy; but fields were good, and sport brisk. Backers led off well by making High Road favourite for the Harbury Selling Plate. Drawbridge filly carried her owner's colours well in the early stages, but could get no nearer than third, High Road being followed home by Ritayleen filly. It was an impressive performance, and the winner was retained at 630 guineas. Dodd saddled a smart winner for the Hatton Selling Plate in Flavia, a Seaforth filly of racing proportions that easily justified her favouritism, Sakarin being the only one to threaten her. 230 guineas sufficed to buy the winner in. Lambton's stable supplied the winner of the Milverton Handicap in Verbena, a nice-looking Spearmint filly, which was a 7 to 1 chance at the start, and gave Carslake his second winning mount. Tinspear was an odds on favourite for the Leamington Handicap, with Giant Killer (a winner here last back-end) next in demand, but the winner turned up in The Vizier, whose admirers were allowed to trade at the nice price of 6 to 1. Ration, the outsider of seven, scored readily in the Grove Park Plate, and the Apprentices' Plate fell to the well-backed Roseacre. Details:—

POINT-TO-POINT MEETINGS—YESTERDAY.

MEATH HUNT SPORTSMAN'S.

Over a stiff hunting country at Mooretown, a few miles from Navan, the Meath Hunt held their Point-to-Point meeting yesterday. The weather was fine, with a decidedly cold nip in the air, and a big company enjoyed an excellent afternoon's sport, a couple of the finishes being rather exciting affairs. The most interesting event of the four which figured on the card was the Welter Hunt Race, which Mr. P. D. Cullinan won with a grand stamp of hunter in Burgamo, but an error of judgment on the part of the rider of Carrot coming to the difficult last fence probably cost Mr. Fowler's mount the race; as it was, a capital set-to between Carrot and Burgamo ended in favour of the latter by only a neck. The Welter Farmers' Race also furnished a close finish between The Doctor and Pride of Tara, which latter negotiated the final obstacle well clear, but when challenged in the last hundred yards or so the favourite compounded, and The Doctor gained the fiat by a couple of lengths. In the Light-Weight Hunt Race Irish Volunteer was expected to make some amends for his Barbour Cup failure; but Captain S. Watt rode quite a brilliant race on Prince, and with Irish Volunteer swerving and losing a lot of ground at the final jump, Prince drew right away to win very easily indeed. The Light-Weight Farmers' Race fell to a strong local fancy in Harristown, who defeated Dowdstown in a canter, the pair having the finish all to themselves a long way from the end. Details:—

CATTERICK BRIDGE MEETING—YESTERDAY.

With the weather bright and fine, the first stage of Catterick Bridge meeting was excellently patronised. Lord Zetland's colours are always popular here, and out of a field of nineteen, his Quartz Rock was made a sound favourite. He ran well too, and resisting a challenge by Bellpull, won a fine race. Tar Baby, voted a good thing for Hornby Castle Handicap, had trouble in shaking off Mount Felix, and was bought in at 230 guineas. Backers scored another success over the new Stand Handicap, High Society was always first order, and won cleverly. Daylight Saving, a locally trained horse, who won only one race over this course in August, scored in the Catterick Welter Handicap. Musk Deer easily won the North Riding Handicap, after a bad start, and was bought in for 300 guineas. Backers had further success with Flashaway, a 13 to 8 chance, which captured the Craven Plate. CHANTICLEER'S NOTES.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM.)

NEWBURY, THURSDAY NIGHT.

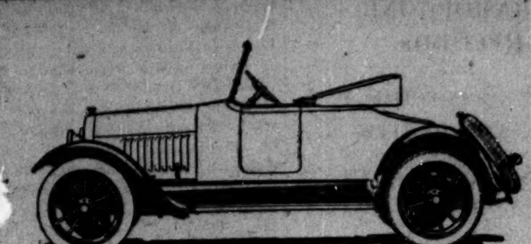

With a prize list amounting to 5,600 sovs. and a splendid array of entries, Newbury Spring fixtures strongly appeal to the racing community. The Greenham Stakes of 1,000 sovs. is the principal event on the opening day. Among the entries one notes the names of many of the leading two-year-olds of last season, and as Tetratema is reported a certain runner, he has my vote. Of the others I like Silvern and 8th Division. My full selections are:—

Juvenile Plate—Nobody's Child.
Compton Handicap—Treasury Bill.
Greenham Stakes—Tetratema.
Chieveley Handicap—Western Wave or Racket
Berkshire Handicap—Silver Jug; if absent, Blackwater.
Beckhampton Stakes—Drumblair or Sunfinch.

With the atmosphere drier and colder at Catterick there is a prospect of further good sport and large fields to-morrow. My selections are:—

Richmond Two-Year-Old Plate—Royal Fancy.
Manor House Plate—Cluster Rose.
Oran Selling Stakes—Contempt filly.
Grove Handicap—A Sitter.
Brough Hall Handicap—Flashaway.
Bainesse Plate—La Hogue.

(SPORTING NEWS CONTINUED ON PAGE 6.)

Same Engine—Different Body

This is the Chalmers two seater—as great an achievement in car construction as the one that made the name famous. The same engine but a different body—a gay little runabout that shies at a repair shop because it so seldom needs one.

The "Hot Spot" Chalmers America's Favourite Six

embodies the Hot Spot and Ram's Horn idea that makes even the worst petrol give every ounce of its power. It is practically vibrationless and as smooth and silky on the road as the better known four seater, and is fitted with the Bosch magneto. It is the dandiest and handiest light car on the market, and the most economical to run.

D. KELLETT, LTD., GEORGE'S ST. & EXCHEQUER ST., DUBLIN

What does your breakfast cost?

A large dish of Quaker Oats costs about a half-penny. A rasher of bacon with two eggs costs at least 1/1½, with one egg at least 8d.

Quaker Oats contains 16.7 per cent. of protein—the body-building element of food. An egg and a rasher of bacon contains about 10½ per cent.

In Quaker Oats you buy the richest all-round food that grows. It is recommended by the medical profession as a body-builder and producer of energy.

A dish of Quaker Oats is almost a complete food—nearly the ideal food. It is the food that every modern mother wants her child to have. The children love it because of the delicious Quaker flavour.

Quaker Oats is sold only in sealed packets (never loose) to ensure purity and preserve the delicious flavour.

Quaker Oats

Serve Quaker Oats with syrup and preserved milk—and forget shortage of sugar and fresh milk. Many people prefer the Scots way, with salt. Many use jam for sweetening. An excellent use for left-over porridge is to slice it cold and fry with bacon.

FLOUR AND BREAD (PRICES) ORDER, 1920.
CLAIMS FOR COMPENSATION.
NOTICE.

Form F. and B. 15 will be posted to all those bakers and retailers of flour who have already made the necessary return on Form F. and B. 14 so as to reach them on the 10th instant. Bakers and retailers of flour who have furnished the return on Form F. and B. 14, and who do not receive Form F. and B. 15 on or before the 12th instant, should immediately notify this office.

It should clearly be understood that claims for compensation from bakers and retailers of flour who have not already completed Form F. and B. 14 will not be entertained.

The information required on Form F. and B. 15 is:—

(1) Quantities of flour used in the manufacture of bread, etc., or sold BY RETAIL at the controlled maximum prices during the four weeks—midnight, Saturday, 13th March, 1920, to midnight, Saturday, 10th April, 1920. BAKERS SHOULD NOTE THAT FLOUR USED IN THE MANUFACTURE OF BREAD, ETC., INTENDED FOR SALE ON MONDAY, THE 12th INSTANT, IS NOT TO BE INCLUDED IN THIS STATEMENT.

(2) Quantities of flour purchased at the increased wholesale prices during the four weeks—midnight, Saturday, 13th March, 1920, to midnight, Saturday, 10th April, 1920.

Claimants are requested to read the Form carefully before completing it, as errors or omissions will entail correspondence and delay in allowing the claim.

FLOUR DEALERS.

Traders who sell flour, both by retail and by way of wholesale, will be treated as wholesale dealers in the first instance, and will be called upon to pay to this Department the sum of 19/3 for every sack of flour of 280lbs. held by them, or in transit to them, at the close of business on the 13th ultimo. They will then be entitled to claim compensation in respect of any flour sold by them BY RETAIL during the four weeks already specified at the controlled maximum prices.

The Irish Times.

FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 1920.

It is stated that in occupying the German towns the French Government acted somewhat precipitately on its own responsibility. France's action has created an awkward situation for the other Allied Powers, but efforts are being made to bring about an understanding. Mr. Lloyd George and the other members of the Cabinet yesterday discussed the situation at some length.

An official return of outrages attributed to Sinn Fein in Ireland for the first quarter of the year shows the total number of murders as 36, and firing at persons 81. Three hundred and eighty-nine raids for arms took place. Incendiary fires number 47.

Roskeen Police Barrack, County Tipperary, was attacked by armed men on Wednesday night. Reinforcements arrived from Thurles and drove off the attackers.

Sergeant Sullivan, R.I.C., while returning to Tullow, County Carlow, on Tuesday night, was fired at and received some shot grains about the head and face.

The inquest on Mr. MacCurtain, the late Lord Mayor of Cork, was resumed yesterday in that city, and a large number of policemen gave evidence as to the movements of the police in the different barracks on the night of the murder.

In London the Stock Markets had another dismal day, and among prices there was no redeeming feature of strength. Money was in ample supply at 4 per cent., and the rate quickly fell away to 3 per cent. Discount business improved, though still on a restricted scale. On Dublin Exchange the tendency generally was towards a lower level of prices.

World Finance.

The Council of the League of Nations is about to meet at Paris, and the programme which has been arranged for discussion is of the most vital importance. Hitherto the League has dealt with abstractions and theories of government. Now it is about to tackle the real problem of our time. Expressed in marks, francs, pesetas, crowns, or guilders, the trouble in every country is identical. World finance is the paramount problem of peace. The Council of the League of Nations has decided to convene a great International Conference on Finance, which will be held in Brussels some time in May. Invitations will be issued to every recognised State in the world. The Conference is expected to sit for a fortnight, and all the best financial brains in the world will contribute to the discussion. Chief among the topics for consideration will be the standardisation of State Budgets and taxation values, trade credits, exports and imports and foreign exchanges; but every pathway of finance will be explored. Every State which participates in this great Conference will probably accept an obligation to lay all its cards on the table. Balance-sheets will be produced and examined; prospective Budgets will be laid bare before the eyes of the world. Methods will be compared and subjected to constructive criticism; evils will be diagnosed and remedies prescribed. The raison d'être of the proposed Conference is almost certainly the flotation of an international loan. The temporary removal of all national barriers will make this project immeasurably easier of achievement, and, if the States of the world send their financiers to Brussels determined to spare no effort in the cause of world reconstruction, the League of Nations will justify its existence as a vital force in world affairs.

Europe's troubles are not political; they are economic and financial. The whole complicated and intricate system of international trade has completely collapsed, and can be restored only by concerted action. Germany, Austria, and, more than either, Russia, are quite helpless. The mark is worth three farthings, the kroner can be bought at five a penny, while a rouble is about as valuable as a match. These three countries, however, are inhabited by people in whose energy and intelligence they possess invaluable assets. Given a fair chance, they will recover rapidly. Unfortunately, however, they are not the only countries in Europe. Apart from Great Britain, France, Italy, and the gallant "neutrals," there is a cluster of little States in Central Europe which constitute a standing menace to the Continent's economic security. They have been nourished on "self-determination," and "self-determination," like oysters, is a diet which does not agree with everybody. The new States of Europe have refused consistently to recognise economic laws. Blinded with enmity against one another, they have refused to trade, with the inevitable result that, without exception, their exchequers and national store-houses are in a hopeless muddle. Their "money" is virtually worthless. Barter, in its crudest form, is their only method of doing business. They have done nothing to help themselves, and have choked the channels of European commerce by their wilful behaviour. Nothing but the complete destruction of their currencies and a start ab initio can save these States from chaos. International credits must be provided for them, as well as for Russia, Austria, and Germany, so as to enable them to import food and raw material from the abundant places of the earth and to set the wheels of their industries in motion.

In the ordinary course of events the United States of America would be called upon to provide the greatest assistance for Europe's needy States, but, as matters stand at present, it will do nothing. Of the Allies, Japan is the only Power whose finances could stand a heavy strain. France and Italy themselves are in urgent need of credit, while Great Britain is just able to keep her head above water. The onus of responsibility, therefore, falls upon the "neutrals." Some of them, indeed, are in a parlous plight, but the majority have reaped a golden harvest during the last five and a half years. The Allies did the fighting; is it too much to expect Holland, Spain, South America, Switzerland, and Scandinavia to contribute their share to the restoration of Europe's economic stability? In the matter of credits they can be of enormous service. Every one of them would be involved in Europe's destruction, and their own interests demand that they shall help to support the enormous burdens of the war. The forthcoming International Conference will give them their opportunity. Hitherto Great Britain has been acting as humanity's fairy godmother. She has been helping Russia, Austria, Rumania, Serbia, Armenia and the rest. Her own exchange with America has fallen, and her cost of living has soared to the giddiest heights. Her resources are exceedingly limited and her Quixotry has cost her dear. America's withdrawal from Europe has made international action essential. Great Britain cannot continue to feed and finance a hemisphere, and, unless the action of the League of Nations be successful, she, too, will be forced to cut herself adrift. The day seems to be approaching when the cry of sauve qui peut will resound throughout the world. Calamity already is in sight, and, unless a breakwater of united statesmanship prevents it, victor and vanquished, belligerent and neutral, may be engulfed in its consuming wave.

Restriction of Rents.

A year ago when the Government decided to enlarge the scope of the Rent Restriction Acts it was expected that in a few months all need for the measures would have disappeared. Mr. Lloyd George had high hopes that the summer of 1919 would see thousands of municipal building schemes well on the way to completion. Those who shared his hopes must be bitterly disappointed. To-day the shortage of houses is more acute than ever, and it is clear that the solution of the problem will be the work of years. In these circumstances the Government must continue to hold the scales as evenly as possible between the landlord and the tenant. For that purpose new legislation is necessary. The existing Acts were devised to deal with what was regarded as merely a passing emergency, and they must be amended and extended. In Ireland they apply to cases where rents do not exceed £52 per annum, and their object is to prevent the raising of rents above the pre-war level. They also provide that mortgages on such houses shall not be called in or increased. It is true that an advance of 10 per cent. is allowed, but this may not come into force until six months after the legal termination of the war, which has yet to be fixed by an Order in Council when the peace with Turkey has been signed. As matters stand at present, these Acts will remain in force until March of next year; but another measure which imposes certain restrictions on a landlord in regard to ejectments will lapse three months hence. It is understood that the Committee which the Prime Minister appointed last February to report on the question is in favour of extending all Acts for a considerable period. Various important amendments, however, will be advocated in the report. Landlords have complained—and with good cause—that the present restrictions are too severe. The cost of repairs has increased enormously, but, under the Acts, they cannot make the tenants pay even a proportion of it. The result is that many properties are becoming dilapidated, and will soon be unfit for human habitation. The Committee thinks that the landlord ought to receive some compensation, and, therefore, it proposes that the percentage of increase in rent shall be considerably more than ten per cent., and that it shall take effect before the official termination of the war. House-rent cannot remain at the same level for an indefinite period, particularly when the State demands a large share of the landlord's receipts in the shape of income tax. Shopkeepers have been loud in their demands for a continuance of the Acts, but it seems that their cries have fallen on deaf ears. The Committee, it is said, takes the view that its task is to deal with the housing question, and that offices and shops must remain outside the scope of the proposed legislation.

The Church of Wales.

To-day the first Archbishop of the Church in Wales will be presented to the Governing Body of the Church in session at Llandrindod. The election was made privately in the early hours of Wednesday morning, but it is known that the Bishop of St. Asaph has been appointed by his three brothers of St. David's, Bangor, and Llandaff. Dr. Edwards is the senior diocesan bishop, and his gifts of oratory and statesmanship have made him, during the last thirty years, the foremost churchman in Wales. An undaunted leader in the long fight against disestablishment and disendowment, he is now fitly chosen to guide the opening destinies of the newly-created Province of the Anglican Church. For eight centuries the Church in Wales has been an integral part of the Province of Canterbury. The struggle which has forced independence on her was contested with passionate loyalty on her side, and with much greed and bitterness on the side of her opponents. It is finished now, and we may hope that, since all grievances have been removed, the Church of Wales will start her new career with the good-will of the other denominations in the Principality. Already the Governing Body has received a telegram of greeting from the conference of the Welsh Calvinist Church at Lampeter. Certainly the good-will of all Irish Churchmen will go forth to the little Church which stands to-day on the brink of the same great adventure that their own Church confronted fifty years ago. None knows better than they the dangers and difficulties that lie before her. They will follow her fortunes with sympathetic interest, especially in the days that must pass before her Governing Body obtains the full powers of a synod. That Body has lost no time in getting to work. At its meeting on Wednesday it attacked the vital problem of clerical stipends. It fixed, provisionally, the minimum stipend for all parish clergymen at £250, together with a house or an allowance for a house; but no maximum was fixed. These arrangements are provisional because, as the Bishop of St. David's explained, the amount of the interest on endowments and the outcome of the Church's appeal for £1,000,000 are still uncertain.

Moslem and Jew.

Martial law has been proclaimed at Jerusalem on account of a series of fierce fights between Jews and Mohammedans. A dozen persons have been killed and some 250 injured in these disturbances. At this season the Christians celebrate Easter, the Jews the Passover, and the Moslems the Feast of Nebi Moussa. The trouble began—as in Belfast on "the twelfth"—with processions. There was more than "religious" passion, however, behind the buffets of Moslem and Jew; for the Arabs are bitterly hostile, on political and economic grounds, to a Jewish re-occupation of Palestine. The Arab land-owners dislike the modern methods of Jewish agriculture, and watch with resentment and alarm the rapid growth of Jewish colonies. It becomes daily more manifest that many difficulties await the Zionist movement, in spite of the sympathy and support of the Allied Powers. "Palestine for the Jews" is not yet, and, perhaps, never may become, a practical formula in the fullest sense. A settlement must be found which, at the same time, will give Jewry an opportunity to build its national home and will safeguard the rights of the Arab and other Moslem inhabitants. These things can be done only under the mandate of some strong and impartial Power; and Britain, that weary Titan, seems to be destined for the task.

COURT CIRCULAR.

VICEREGAL LODGE, DUBLIN.
THURSDAY.

Captain Blackburn, 1st Battalion the King's Own Regiment, had the honour of being invited to dine with His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant at the Viceregal Lodge this evening.

Admiral Sir Reginald Tupper arrived at the Lodge to-day.

SIR HAMAR GREENWOOD.

The King has approved the proposal that Sir Hamar Greenwood be sworn a member of the Privy Council.

THE GOVERNMENT AND HOME RULE.

Addressing the members of the Sunderland Liberal Association last night, on his adoption as their candidate in the by-election, Sir Hamar Greenwood said that his appointment was an indication that the Government intended to settle the Irish question. He appealed to the electors to regard the contest as being fought solely on Ireland.

THE ARCHBISHOPRIC OF WALES.

At yesterday's session at Llandrindod of the Governing Body of the Church in Wales, it was stated that the Bishop of St. Asaph, who was elected on Wednesday first Archbishop of Wales, will be enthroned in St. Asaph Cathedral on June 1st. The Archbishop will be publicly acclaimed to-day at Llandrindod Wells.

SIR HENRY WILSON IN BELFAST.

THE PREVENTION OF FUTURE WARS.

Field-Marshal Sir Henry Wilson paid a visit to the Queen's University, Belfast, yesterday afternoon, and was presented with an address of welcome. Addressing the students, he said that some people thought it was a good thing to have a lot of small States. He was a soldier and not a politician—(applause)—and, being a soldier, obviously he hated war. But being in favour of peace, he was opposed to small States as independent States. He liked to see a small State a part of a great Empire, and he liked to see the men and women of that small State taking a hand in the affairs of the great Empire. (Applause.) But to be a small State in these days, in any day, and to be living at the mercy of some bigger neighbour, God forbid.

After relating several interesting incidents in connection with the war, Sir Henry concluded—The war ended after four-and-a-half years of fighting, in which we all did our little best. It was, as many of you know, a bloody war, and we do not want any more of it. But so far as I read history, and so far as I understand human nature, the way to prevent war is to be ready for war. (Applause.)

PROPOSED WAR MEMORIAL AT ALDERSHOT.

It is proposed to erect a memorial church in Aldershot Camp to the memory of all Roman Catholic officers and men of the Army and Royal Air Force who have fallen in the war. A Roman Catholic church is badly needed in the camp to replace the old wooden one, which has done duty since the Crimean War. Some collections have already been made in the Army, and a sum of about £3,000 is in hand. Anything like a fitting memorial will, of course, entail a large expenditure, and it is hoped to raise from £25,000 to £30,000.

THE ORDER OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

Mrs. Rebecca Green James, who has been appointed an Officer of the Order of the British Empire, rendered valuable service as Secretary of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Families' Association, Kilkenny, and as a member of the local War Pensions Committee.

MRS. A. M. HASLAM.

Mrs. A. M. Haslam was the recipient, on her 91st birthday, of numerous letters, telegrams, flowers, and present of various kinds, and also of an address and presentation from some of her old friends.

LONDON CORRESPONDENCE.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
THURSDAY NIGHT.

The story from Frankfort, with regard to the fighting there, rather suggests that the Germans are again at their tricks. The fact that the students commenced to hold meetings all over the town indicates a guiding mind behind them, and the same mind may well be responsible for the attacks made on French officers. It is quite time that the Allies insisted upon Germany's reducing her armed forces strictly to the limits imposed by the Peace Treaty. Otherwise, one of these days we shall find ourselves suddenly plunged into war again. France has not forgotten what happened after Jena, and the other Allies should also bear in mind the rapid revival of the Prussian Army after that disaster.

Suggestions that the question of German disarmament should be referred to the League of Nations are rather beside the mark. The League has only just been constituted, and has, as yet, no armed force at its disposal with which to secure the execution of its decrees. Ultimately, no doubt, it will concern itself with the strength of the Navies and Armies of its various members, but at present the disarmament of Germany must be left to the Allies, who alone have the means of compelling compliance.

In the meantime, the League has plenty of other work which is fully within its competence. Under its auspices, for example, forty of the world's leading States are to be invited to attend an international financial conference at Brussels early in May. Financial Ministers, bankers, and other experts from every country are expected to attend, and, according to an evidently well informed correspondent of the Evening Standard, every State will be required to produce its balance sheet, its forthcoming Budget, its full debit and credit position, and its peculiar financial difficulties.

With these data before them the delegates may be able to arrive at a common policy for improving the economic conditions of the poorer countries, and reducing the present chaos in the foreign exchanges. If, for example, they can induce the new States to trust the League of Nations to guarantee their territory, and to give up their extravagant expenditure upon armaments, there might be some possibility of floating an international loan for their benefit at a comparatively reasonable rate of interest, so enabling them to get their productive machinery into working order.

Of course, there are prodigious difficulties in the way, one of the principal being the fact that, with a presidential election looming in the near future and turning largely upon foreign policy, America is not likely to give much material assistance this year. But it will be a great thing to have the world's monetary malaise authoritatively diagnosed, and the possible remedies explored in advance. After all, it is so obviously to the advantage of the United States, as the great creditor nation, to get the debtor nations put on their financial legs again, that America's support is sure to be forthcoming for any well-considered scheme.

The Prime Minister has returned to London looking very well after his short holiday. He is to leave London for the meeting of the Supreme Council at San Remo during the next few days, but the exact date is uncertain. He may go nearly all the way by sea if time permits.

Late this afternoon the Evening News announced that Miss Darby, whose disappearance has been a nine-days' wonder in London, has been discovered alive and well, and apparently quite happy, in Liverpool. There is nothing save a mysterious murder that so excites the average Londoner—man or woman—as the disappearance of some comparatively well-known person. Considering her striking appearance, and the way in which the newspapers have spread her portrait broadcast, it is rather remarkable that Miss Darby should have escaped recognition for so long.

The return, issued to-day at the request of Lord Robert Cecil, provides the most striking evidence as to the lawless condition of Ireland. That there should have been thirty-six murders of a political character in the period under review, and ninety-one attempted murders during the same period, is a terrible revelation of the conditions now existing.

Sir Hamar Greenwood's prospects at Sunderland are decidedly bright, for there is a growing feeling in the constituency that he should be allowed a walk-over in order that he may start on his difficult task with the least possible delay. The Liberal Party is most unlikely to put forward a candidate, and it remains to be seen whether the Labour Party will follow such a gracious example. In any event, the return of Sir Hamar is now regarded as a foregone conclusion, though the Irish vote in the division is very considerable.

"Old, unhappy, far-off things, and battles long ago," are recalled by the report of the Select Committee appointed to inquire into the land value duties and the system of land valuation imposed by the Finance Act 1909-10, and to make recommendations thereon. The duties and the attendant valuation constituted the only original portion of Mr. Lloyd George's famous first Budget, and were the direct cause of the quarrel with the Peers, and the passing of the Parliament Act under which the Home Rule Act of 1914 was placed upon the Statute Book.

The valuation has been very expensive. The duties have been a failure as regards revenue, and are largely accountable for the present shortage of houses, since they frightened the speculative builder out of business. The Prime Minister, who, to do him justice, never cries over spilt milk, readily consented last summer to the appointment of a Select Committee to inquire whether anything could be done with his unfortunate offspring. But the Committee itself has been baffled by the complexity of the problems involved, and reports that, "owing to difficulties arising from different interpretations of the order of reference and divergent views as to the scope of the inquiry," it has been unable to consider the matters referred to it. How different recent history would have been, and what a lot of worry and trouble the nation would have been saved, if Mr. Lloyd George had set up a Select Committee to inquire into the possibilities of land valuation before he introduced the Budget of 1909! The story should serve as a standing warning to politicians in a hurry.

The inauguration of the new Archbishop of Wales will be a most imposing function, and it is understood that it will, in all probability, take place in the open air, in order that as many Church people of Wales as possible may take part. Both the English Archbishops will take part in the proceedings, and it is intended that they shall present the new Archbishop to the Welsh people in order that the continuity of the Church may be demonstrated.

NORTHERN UNIONISTS AND THE PARTITION BILL.

FEELING AGAINST ULSTER COUNCIL'S DECISION.

On Wednesday a meeting of the Unionist delegates of Cavan, Donegal, and Monaghan was held in Clones to consider what action should be taken in view of their present position. The chair was occupied by Mr. William Martin, and the following delegates were present:—Lady Dartrey, Major R. L. Moore, Mrs. Boyd, Major Myles, Captain Wagentriber, Robert Neely, T. C. Wylie, Captain Hamilton, J. Allan Osborne, Major E. J. Richardson, T. R. Blackley, Arthur Forbes, Rev. W. J. Askins, T. Y. Chambers, W. Reid, William Matthews, Robert Doogan, M. E. Knight, William Black, James McCaldin, T. W. Hanna, Arthur Simons, George Gillespie, Dr. J. Campbell Hall, Miss M. I. Murray Ker, Colonel R. M. Crawford.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:—"That the delegates from Cavan having announced that they had sent in their resignations to the Ulster Unionist Council, the delegates from Monaghan having decided to do so, and the delegates from Donegal being in favour of similar action, the delegates felt that, before anything further was done, a special meeting of the Ulster Unionist Council should be held to reconsider their decision of March 10th, having regard to the fact that there is a strong feeling amongst many in the other six counties in favour of such a course."

A DUBLIN HOUSING SCHEME

INTERESTING ADDRESS BY REV. D. H. HALL.

A meeting of the National Council of Women of Great Britain and Ireland (Dublin Branch) was held in the offices, 5 Leinster street, Dublin, yesterday, when the Rev. D. H. Hall, St. Barnabas's, North Wall, explained a proposed scheme for providing a garden suburb in Dublin. Before the meeting, Mr. Hall exhibited plans of suggested model cottages suitable for artisans. These buildings were semi-detached, but could be satisfactorily erected at a lower cost than £1,800 for each pair of cottages. Mr. Hall said that his reason for taking an interest in housing schemes was due to the appalling conditions under which he found people living in his own parish. There were families living under conditions both unhygienic and immoral. Many could afford to live under better conditions, but it was not a question of money, but of inability to obtain accommodation. Consequently, the St. Barnabas's Public Utility Society, Limited, was formed and registered under the Friendly Societies Act. Sites of suitable land are available, and as soon as the funds can be raised building can be commenced. Messrs. Batchelor and Hicks have designed the lay-out of the sites and the construction of the houses. The arrangement will be on the lines of a garden suburb, each house lying on an eighth of an acre of land, with a bathroom in each house and a recreation ground for children. It was proposed that the majority of the shares should be held by the tenants, and the houses, it was suggested, should be managed by a Board of Management, of which one-third should be tenants of the houses to be erected. Mr. Hall said that it was believed that the Society could so far improve the conditions in the North Wall area as to render clean and happy the lives of many who are at present existing under conditions too awful to be described. It was desired to raise a sum of £25,000 in loan stock, such amount to be gradually paid off as the Society accumulated funds.

After some discussion of the details of housing accommodation and the relative advantages of self-contained houses over flats, the meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Rev. D. H. Hall for his interesting details of the St. Barnabas Church scheme.

MR. J. B. YEATS'S PICTURES.

In Irish art Mr. Jack B. Yeats, R.H.A., stands quite apart from his contemporaries, both in his mode of work and the idealism underlying it. He is an interpreter of rural life in all its simplicity and quaintness. Connemara he has made essentially his own. He has shown us the charm and rugged strength of its peasantry with rare fidelity. Those who visit Mills' Hall, Merrion Row, during the next fortnight will appreciate how admirably his art reveals the strange and elusive "other-worldliness" of the Western peasantry. The forty-one pictures which make up the exhibition are mainly studies of Connaught folk, busied in work-a-day concerns, or in a mood of seeming pre-occupation. A few—and those which visitors will possibly estimate as Mr. Yeats's most meritorious achievements—show us the lighter side of life, not detached from the sombre and squalid—the spirit whose gaiety will not die, though it has but rags and patches to clothe it. Such a study is No. 1, "A Ballad Singer," in which the artist has well pourtrayed the abandon and intensity of soul which possess the wayside minstrel as she delivers her ditty. No. 12, "Going to the Races," is a striking blend of the grave and gay—the eager and elate faces of the jaunting-car passengers forming a striking contrast to their rough apparel. The scene is a familiar one with travellers to the West, but Mr. Yeats's imagination has invested it with a touch of the poetic, which strengthens its appeal. Remarkable for both its effectiveness and beauty of composition is the picture (No. 8) showing the departure of the early mail-car for Belmullet, with none about but the driver, John M. Synge (a prospective passenger), and a few adventurous rooks to break the morning stillness. Though but a small side-face of the dramatist is shown, it is enough to satisfy one as to his identity. There is a brooding sense of dreariness and dulness expressed in the sketch, relieved only by the impatient look of the horses to be off. A charming little sketch is No. 20, "Thatching," in which the action depicted and the attitude and figures of the actors are nicely proportioned. Several very striking and well-conceived studies, illustrative of famous Irish ballads, constitute a notable part of the exhibition. In these Mr. Yeats shows his distinctive characteristics of drawing and composition, and a commendable fidelity in reproducing the cut and colour of the rustic folk who fill his canvases. The portraiture of the ballad-singer rendering Davis's "Lament for the Death of Owen Roe O'Neill," is an appealing piece of characterisation; and the two companion studies are charged with fervour and intensity of purpose. In No. 14, "An Old Car-Driver," Mr. Yeats has concentrated power and a dash of quiet humour. It depicts a well-known Sligo "Jehu," who was wont to enjoy a quiet snooze during slack intervals at a spot whereat a primitive barometer in the form of a bottle, filled with certain fluids, was suspended. Though warmed only by the rays of a winter sun, it acted as a lens, and disturbed the old man's slumbers with a painful scorch of his cheek. The other subjects, varied in kind and original in treatment, attest the versatility and resourcefulness of Mr. Yeats's art, and the simple and unobtrusive expedients by which he is able to fill his creations with life, atmosphere, and quiet pathos.

The exhibition will be open from 10 o'clock to 5.30 daily until the 22nd inst.

THE NEED FOR CHRISTIAN UNITY.

ADDRESS BY RIGHT REV. DR. SIMMS.

The Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Ireland, Right Rev. Dr. J. M. Simms, Principal Chaplain to the Forces, speaking at the closing meeting of the Assembly's College, Belfast, yesterday, referred to the need for Christian unity as one of the outstanding lessons of the war. No Church, he said, outside the Presbyterian Church, in practical utility, so far as the training and equipment of their chaplains was concerned, was better equipped to give a certain definite message to the men. It was the considered opinion that the Churches had gained a great deal in influence through the course of the war. After a battle, proceeded the Moderator, when the dead lay all round, the Roman Catholic chaplain would turn to the right and a Presbyterian chaplain to the left, and ask God's blessing on them. There was no time to think of creed, and the men loved to have it so. The men who returned were determined that sectarianism would have nothing more to do in their lives, and the Churches to retain their influence must close up their ranks.

DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF DIVINITY.

The Presbyterian Theological Faculty of Ireland at a meeting then held conferred the Degree of Doctor of Divinity on the Rev. James Carson, B.A., Assembly's Missionary to China; the Rev. John Corry Johnston, M.A., one of the ministers of the Abbey Church, Rutland square, Dublin; and the Rev. James Barkley Woodburn, M.A., minister of First Holywood congregation.

EDINBURGH ELECTIONS.

The polling for North and South Edinburgh takes place to-day. Yesterday much strenuous work was put into the contests. Canvassers and organisers were busy from an early hour, and the houses of a large number of electors in both divisions were visited. A great many day and night meetings were held. Though the Coalitionist majority is so large in the South, the Liberal candidate expresses himself sanguine of winning. Mr. Runciman is very hopeful in the North. The Coalitionists express themselves as confident of retaining both seats.

WEATHER FORECAST.

General Inference.—A depression off the British S.W. coasts is spreading slowly N.E., and will cause much cloud and intermittent rain during the next two days in all districts except the North of Scotland, where the weather is likely to remain fair or cloudy, and rather cold during Friday.

Ireland.—Moderate to fresh north-easterly to northerly breezes; fair to cloudy, passing showers; visibility good; rather cold.

NATIONAL TEACHERS' CONGRESS.

THE PENSIONS QUESTION.

NON-ASSOCIATED TEACHERS.

THE TEACHERS' DEFENCE FUND.

The annual Congress of the Irish National Teachers' Organisation was resumed yesterday morning in the Banba Hall, Parnell Square, Dublin, Mr. T. J. Nunan, outgoing President, in the chair.

Mr. Doyle (Ballymote) moved a resolution "protesting in the strongest possible manner against the refusal on the part of the Treasury to meet the just and modest claims of the pensioned teachers," and demanding that the terms given to pensioned teachers in Scotland should be accorded to Irish retired teachers, claiming that, in the absence of a sufficient Treasury grant, a substantial part of the accumulated pension capital of three millions should be set apart for improving their incomes.

Mr. Lillis (West Clare) seconded the resolution, and said that if the present salaries of teachers were a disgrace the pensions must be doubly a disgrace. He instanced the case of a teacher in his locality who had retired after 21 years' service. The man's pension was not sufficient to keep him in tobacco, and he had to accept the hospitality of the workhouse, although he had in his time been teaching in an important town in the North of Ireland.

Mr. Kelly (Limerick) warmly supported the principle of the resolution, and moved as an addendum:—"And that, to register our protest in a practical manner, we call on every teacher in the service to refuse to deduct from the quarterly salaries the amount demanded towards a pension fund."

Mr. O'Reardon (Limerick) seconded the addendum.

In the course of the discussion which ensued it was urged that it was not in the power of the teachers themselves to withhold the pension deductions.

Mr. Kelly eventually withdrew the addendum. The original resolution was then passed.

SCHOOL PROGRAMMES.

In regard to school programmes, a resolution was moved by Mr. Walsh, (Dublin) expressing the opinion that the present programmes were unsuitable to Irish conditions; that a committee of managers, teachers, and others be formed to frame a series of programmes in accordance with Irish ideals and conditions, and authorising the C.E.C. to take steps to form such a committee, and that the programmes decided upon be submitted for approval and put into operation at the beginning of the coming school year.

Mr. Moore (Belfast) moved a resolution "protesting against the system of inspection, whereby a teacher's prospects and promotion were at the mercy of the inspector; and that, as the present system was detrimental to education, they suggested a conference between the educational authorities and representatives of the I.N.T.O. immediately with a view of devising a system of inspection, which would ensure educational efficiency, and secure and retain the confidence of the teaching body."

Mr. Heanen (Downpatrick) seconded the motion which was passed.

On the motion of Mr. Hutton (Tullamore), seconded by Mr. Gordon (Limerick), the following recommendation of the Tullamore Association was agreed to—"That recommendation No. 1 of the audit committee at the 1919 Congress be rescinded, and that in future the I.N.T.O. send to the annual Trades Union Congress the full number which its membership entitles it to send."

NON-ASSOCIATED TEACHERS.

Mr. Cummins (Dublin Central) proposed a resolution to the effect that it be recognised as an unprofessional act for an associated member of the I.N.T.O. to work with a non-associated teacher, and, in the event of a member having to strike on this issue, Congress should direct that the salary of such teacher should be paid out of the Defence Fund.

Mr. Parker (Ballinasloe) said that he could not go to the full length of the resolution. In a city they were surrounded by Labour organisations that would support them in any action they took, but it was not so in the country. He suggested that any teacher who was outside the association should not be spoken to or taken any notice of by members.

Dr. Horgan (Dublin) thought that in many of the Dublin schools the resolution would not be practicable.

Mr. O'Neill (Newry), while agreeing with the resolution, thought that it was dangerous. His suggestion was that they should take all steps that were legal to condemn publicly the non-associated teachers.

Mr. Horgan (Limerick) said that he was in favour of fixing a date after which the resolution might be put into operation.

A delegate suggested Labour Day (May 1st).

Mr. Walsh (Dublin Central) suggested that the action mentioned in the resolution should be taken on a member receiving through his local Association the sanction of the Central Executive Committee to strike.

Miss Noble (Belfast) expressed the opinion that the resolution was not workable in Belfast, where they had 1,100 teachers, only 400 of whom were organised. She thought that strong action might be delayed.

Mr. McSweeney (Limerick) suggested that the names of non-associated teachers should be brought before the local Trades Council, and that parents be asked to withdraw their children from schools where "non-union" teachers were employed.

Mr. Harbison (Belfast) said that, while in favour of the spirit of the resolution, he did not see that they were in a position to put it into operation. He did not approve of sending the names of non-associated teachers to Labour bodies, but he would supply them with the names of the associated teachers, and they could find out for themselves who the non-associated teachers were. (Laughter.)

Mr. O'Connell (Secretary) remarked that the discussion had been useful, but he did not think it practicable to take the full action suggested in the resolution.

The resolution was eventually adopted in the modified terms suggested by Mr. Walsh—viz., that the sanction of the C.E.C. must be obtained before a strike against non-associated teachers in any district.

TEACHERS' DEPENDENTS.

Mr. Walsh (Dublin Central) moved a resolution demanding that a similar provision to that made for widows and orphans of civil servants be made for the relatives of teachers at death, and also similar provision in case of sick leave as to time and payment of salary.

Mr. Cummins (Dublin) seconded, and the motion was passed unanimously.

Mr. Kelly (Limerick) moved that, in view of possible developments, every associated teacher be asked to contribute £1 immediately, to be followed by a weekly levy of 2s. 6d., to a defence fund. He urged that this was the only way in which they could be prepared for "direct action." At present they had £6,000 in the defence fund, and by his motion they would have £18,000 in twelve months, and be in a position to show that they were in earnest in getting their demands.

Mr. Hishon (Limerick) seconded, and Mr. Gordon (Limerick) supported, the motion, and referred to the sensation in October, 1918, when it became evident that the teachers entertained even the thought of "direct action."

Mr. O'Connell (General Secretary) said that within the last few months he had many reports from district secretaries as to the difficulties experienced in collecting subscriptions from members. Congress should not without mature consideration adopt the resolution, which might at present have to remain on the "statute book." (Laughter.) The auditors' report showed that they were building up a defence fund at the rate of £3,000 or £4,000 a year. He agreed that that was not sufficiently rapid, and suggested that, whatever the increased salary obtained may be, each teacher should pay £1 into a special fund.

Mr. Kelly—Pay it out of the increased war bonus next week. (Cries of "No, no," and "That is too small.")

Congress unanimously accepted Mr. O'Connell's proposal.

ROMAN CATHOLIC TEACHERS.

The adjourned meeting of the Roman Catholic teachers attending the Congress was held in the morning—Mr. James Cunningham (Ballincollig) in the chair. The meeting was private, and was occupied with matters in connection with the religious programme in national schools and Sunday Catechism, a statement on which was submitted to the Bishops prior to their meeting of last October. Their lordships not having yet considered this statement, the delegates empowered the General Committee, which was unanimously re-appointed for the coming year, to deal with any questions which may arise.

CLOSING PROCEEDINGS.

It was decided that the time and place of next Congress be left in the hands of the Executive Committee.

On the motion of Mr. Harbinson (Belfast), a vote of thanks was proposed to Mr. Nunan. Mr. Harbinson said that he thought that it was appropriate that a man from the Co. Antrim should propose the vote of thanks to the man from the Co. Kerry, and he hoped that no matter what artificial bounds might be sought to be set up that the North would never be separated from the South. (Applause.) He also coupled the name of the General Secretary (Mr. O'Connell) with the vote.

Mr. Parker (Ballinasloe), in seconding, paid a tribute to the work done by both the outgoing President and the General Secretary.

Mr. Ramsay (Cookstown), in supporting the motion, which was passed with acclamation, said that he hoped it would be a long time before the North was separated from the South. (Applause.)

Mr. Nunan and Mr. O'Connell returned thanks, and the Congress terminated.

HUNGER STRIKE AT MOUNTJOY JAIL.

Yesterday was the fourth day of the hunger strike of seventy Sinn Fein prisoners in Mountjoy Jail. A priest was called in to attend one of the prisoners yesterday.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

A TEST OF BRITISH LOYALTY.

The Times, in a leading article, says:—With that unanimity which is a sure sign that the Government have been attempting to manipulate the newspapers, the Press Agencies have issued a statement upon the action of our French Allies in occupying Frankfurt and the other German towns. It declares, in the unmistakable English of Downing street, that an entirely erroneous impression upon the subject has got abroad. The British public, it seems, have rashly assumed that, in vindicating the most vital Articles of the Peace Treaty in this fashion, France has been acting in full accord with the views and wishes of her Allies. The public have been quite wrong. "The exact reverse is the case." Not only has France "acted entirely upon her own responsibility," but she has acted, this inspired communication informs the world and Germany, against the advice of all the other Allies, and of America. The decision of the Belgian Government to associate itself with the action of France shows that, at least as regards Belgium, this information is false. Our official mentors would have us believe that all the other Allies were opposed to the plan. They agreed, indeed, that "something must be done," but they still consider the French military action inadvisable, and they assert that it "has caused an obviously delicate situation." "The subject," the statement proceeds with unprecedented frankness, "is in process of discussion between the French and British Governments, and it is hoped"—these words deserve attention—"it is hoped that the situation may be eased." Then we are given, still with wholly unaccustomed candour, a summary of the proposals considered before the French were so discourteous as to act.

Referring to this communiqué, The Times states:—We have seldom read a more lamentable or a more shameful exposition of British policy. We suppose the next step will be to embody it in a Note to be sent to our Allies across the Channel. That would certainly be the logical development of the "views and wishes" of the communiqué. We look forward with real apprehension to the effects which this scandalous announcement is calculated to produce in France, in Germany, and upon our credit for good faith throughout the world. We have prided ourselves in the past upon our old renown for "backing up our friends." Is this the return we are to make to France for all she has done and suffered by our side? The ingratitude of such a policy is brought into sharp and painful relief by the contrasted conduct of little Belgium. She, to her honour be it said, does not shrink from her French Ally. She has determined to do what England—or rather what the present British Government—flinches from doing. She has decided to send a detachment into the Ruhr "as a token of friendship to France." Is it as a token of indifference to France that our Government have decided not to send one? Is the odium, are the dangers which Belgium is ready to face too heavy for us? What will the French think of us? What will they not be justified in thinking? We tremble at the results of this explosion of inconceivable folly on that close union between the British and the French peoples, upon which our rulers well know the stability of the peace bought at so dear a price now chiefly depends. The results in Germany we can but too certainly foresee. The mere rumour in Frankfurt that England and the United States had summoned France to recall her troops is believed to have been a chief cause of the disturbances there, which cost several Germans their lives. The French undeniably committed a serious error of judgment in sending so many African troops to occupy the city. They appear to have behaved with great restraint, and not to have fired until after the crowds had refused to obey repeated orders to disperse, but the task of holding the town ought to have been committed, so far as possible, to Europeans. The tact for which our friends are justly famous failed them in this instance, and the failure, we are afraid, has given the Germans just such a pretext for indignant protestations as they know how to exploit.

PREPARING THE BUDGET.

The Parliamentary Correspondent of The Times writing to-day says:—The chief Parliamentary event between now and Whitsuntide will be the introduction of the Budget, which Mr. Austen Chamberlain has promised for Monday week. No sooner had the Prime Minister returned from North Wales than he summoned a meeting of the Cabinet Committee on the Budget. The meeting was held yesterday afternoon, and among the Ministers in attendance was Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Bonar Law, Mr. Chamberlain, Lord Milner, and Sir L. Worthington-Evans. Mr. Chamberlain submitted the main heads of his Budget, and these were approved. A Budget is rarely settled so long in advance, but the circumstances were regarded as exceptional. The Prime Minister has tentatively arranged to leave England to-morrow for San Remo for his meeting a week hence with the Prime Ministers of France and Italy. If the present programme holds good, Mr. Lloyd George will go by sea. His plan is, however, dependent on the solution of the international problem caused by the German advance in the Ruhr region, and the French occupation of Frankfurt and other towns. Still, it is significant that no further meeting of the Cabinet or of the Budget Committee has been called. It was in view of the Prime Minister's certain absence from this country on Monday week, and of his probable departure to-morrow, that Mr. Chamberlain yesterday received the order to go full steam ahead with his Budget. It may be accepted, adds The Times, that Mr. Chamberlain will announce at least four considerable changes in taxation in the coming Budget:—

(1) A complete recasting of the income tax, giving more relief for the married, and imposing heavier penalties for evasion.

(2) A higher scale of taxation for motor cars.

(3) An increase of the duty upon imported wines, which have not been taxed so heavily since the outbreak of the war as beer and spirits.

(4) A solution of the problem of the Excess Profits Tax, which now stands at 40 per cent.

THE CAMPAIGN IN NORTHERN RUSSIA.

The Times, commenting editorially on the despatches of Lord Rawlinson and others upon the campaign in Northern Russia, says:—Examining the issue as a purely military one, it is clear now that Admiral Koltchak's ill-fated advance led us astray. The transportation of 2,000 of Maynard's men on sleighs from the Murmansk to the Archangel front was a fine feat in an Arctic winter, but it was a move in the wrong direction. Lord Rawlinson, who was sent out to superintend the evacuation, instantly saw that in making our principal attempt from Archangel, in deference to Koltchak's wishes, we had been "barking up the wrong tree." Had we put all our strength on the Murman Railway, and merely masked the Archangel front, we should have been in Petrograd. The true policy was to co-operate with General Judenitch, and not with Koltchak. Even after our withdrawal had begun Koltchak's imperative orders to the Russian General, Miller, to hold Archangel at all costs were equally unwise. Lord Rawlinson says that from Petrozavodsk, which General Maynard was in a position to "threaten," an advance to Petrograd "presents no great difficulties." It is of no avail now to speculate further upon what might have happened, especially as, apart from the military factors, we must also reckon with Lord Rawlinson's curt remark, that "there was danger of Bolshevism spreading." This might have been the dominating influence, in any case.

SAN DIEGO'S WELCOME TO THE PRINCE.

Describing the splendid reception accorded to the Prince of Wales at San Diego, the Special Correspondent of The Times, telegraphing on Wednesday, says—The Public Reception Committee, headed by the Mayor, and including representatives of 3,000 British residents and visitors from many parts of California, had prepared a lavish welcome, and a holiday had been proclaimed in the city. The Prince fully justified his reputation and delighted everybody. About 250 British ex-soldiers, including an Indian veteran, South African veterans, and 73 San Diego men who fought in the British Army in the great war (many of them in the Flying Corps), were lined up before the cheering thousands on the waterfront. The Prince insisted on speaking to every man, and was delighted at seeing a British nurse and several Australians, who are learning Californian irrigation methods on their way home. At the huge stadium, adds the Correspondent, where 20,000 were assembled, the Prince had to speak, without trenching on politics, with four cinemas perched staring within a few feet of him, and with the huge horns of the "Magna Vox" in front of his face, this wonderful instrument carrying the sound to the furthermost parts of the immense building. To add to his worries, three aeroplanes made a deafening hum, and photographers began snapshooting. The Prince bore himself splendidly, showing no nervousness, speaking clearly and bravely into the instrument, and arousing cheers among the most distant people.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

A TEST OF BRITISH LOYALTY.

The Times, in a leading article, says:—With that unanimity which is a sure sign that the Government have been attempting to manipulate the newspapers, the Press Agencies have issued a statement upon the action of our French Allies in occupying Frankfurt and the other German towns. It declares, in the unmistakable English of Downing street, that an entirely erroneous impression upon the subject has got abroad. The British public, it seems, have rashly assumed that, in vindicating the most vital Articles of the Peace Treaty in this fashion, France has been acting in full accord with the views and wishes of her Allies. The public have been quite wrong. "The exact reverse is the case." Not only has France "acted entirely upon her own responsibility," but she has acted, this inspired communication informs the world and Germany, against the advice of all the other Allies, and of America. The decision of the Belgian Government to associate itself with the action of France shows that, at least as regards Belgium, this information is false. Our official mentors would have us believe that all the other Allies were opposed to the plan. They agreed, indeed, that "something must be done," but they still consider the French military action inadvisable, and they assert that it "has caused an obviously delicate situation." "The subject," the statement proceeds with unprecedented frankness, "is in process of discussion between the French and British Governments, and it is hoped"—these words deserve attention—"it is hoped that the situation may be eased." Then we are given, still with wholly unaccustomed candour, a summary of the proposals considered before the French were so discourteous as to act. Referring to this communiqué, The Times states:—We have seldom read a more lamentable or a more shameful exposition of British policy. We suppose the next step will be to embody it in a Note to be sent to our Allies across the Channel. That would certainly be the logical development of the "views and wishes" of the communiqué. We look forward with real apprehension to the effects which this scandalous announcement is calculated to produce in France, in Germany, and upon our credit for good faith throughout the world. We have prided ourselves in the past upon our old renown for "backing up our friends." Is this the return we are to make to France for all she has done and suffered by our side? The ingratitude of such a policy is brought into sharp and painful relief by the contrasted conduct of little Belgium. She, to her honour be it said, does not shrink from her French Ally. She has determined to do what England—or rather what the present British Government—flinches from doing. She has decided to send a detachment into the Ruhr "as a token of friendship to France." Is it as a token of indifference to France that our Government have decided not to send one? Is the odium, are the dangers which Belgium is ready to face too heavy for us? What will the French think of us? What will they not be justified in thinking? We tremble at the results of this explosion of inconceivable folly on that close union between the British and the French peoples, upon which our rulers well know the stability of the peace bought at so dear a price now chiefly depends. The results in Germany we can but too certainly foresee. The mere rumour in Frankfurt that England and the United States had summoned France to recall her troops is believed to have been a chief cause of the disturbances there, which cost several Germans their lives. The French undeniably committed a serious error of judgment in sending so many African troops to occupy the city. They appear to have behaved with great restraint, and not to have fired until after the crowds had refused to obey repeated orders to disperse, but the task of holding the town ought to have been committed, as far as possible, to Europeans. The tact for which our friends are justly famous failed them in this instance, and the failure, we are afraid, has given the Germans just such a pretext for indignant protestations as they know how to exploit.

PREPARING THE BUDGET.

The Parliamentary Correspondent of The Times writing to-day says:—The chief Parliamentary event between now and Whitsuntide will be the introduction of the Budget, which Mr. Austen Chamberlain has promised for Monday week. No sooner had the Prime Minister returned from North Wales than he summoned a meeting of the Cabinet Committee on the Budget. The meeting was held yesterday afternoon, and among the Ministers in attendance was Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Bonar Law, Mr. Chamberlain, Lord Milner, and Sir L. Worthington Evans. Mr. Chamberlain submitted the main heads of his Budget, and these were approved. A Budget is rarely settled so long in advance, but the circumstances were regarded as exceptional. The Prime Minister has tentatively arranged to leave England to-morrow for San Remo for his meeting a week hence with the Prime Ministers of France and Italy. If the present programme holds good, Mr. Lloyd George will go by sea. His plan is, however, dependent on the solution of the international problem caused by the German advance in the Ruhr region, and the French occupation of Frankfort and other towns. Still, it is significant that no further meeting of the Cabinet or of the Budget Committee has been called. It was in view of the Prime Minister's certain absence from this country on Monday week, and of his probable departure to-morrow, that Mr. Chamberlain yesterday received the order to go full steam ahead with his Budget. It may be accepted, adds The Times, that Mr. Chamberlain will announce at least four considerable changes in taxation in the coming Budget:—

(1) A complete recasting of the income tax, giving more relief for the married, and imposing heavier penalties for evasion.

(2) A higher scale of taxation for motor cars.

(3) An increase of the duty upon imported wines, which have not been taxed so heavily since the outbreak of the war as beer and spirits.

(4) A solution of the problem of the Excess Profits Tax, which now stands at 40 per cent.

THE CAMPAIGN IN NORTHERN RUSSIA.

The Times, commenting editorially on the despatches of Lord Rawlinson and others upon the campaign in Northern Russia, says:—Examining the issue as a purely military one, it is clear now that Admiral Koltchak's ill-fated advance led us astray. The transportation of 2,000 of Maynard's men on sleighs from the Murmansk to the Archangel front was a fine feat in an Arctic winter, but it was a move in the wrong direction. Lord Rawlinson, who was sent out to superintend the evacuation, instantly saw that in "making our principal attempt from Archangel, in deference to Koltchak's wishes, we had been 'barking up the wrong tree.'" Had we put all our strength on the Murman Railway, and merely masked the Archangel front, we should have been in Petrograd. The true policy was to co-operate with General Judenitch, and not with Koltchak. Even after our withdrawal had begun Koltchak's imperative orders to the Russian General, Miller, to hold Archangel at all costs were equally unwise. Lord Rawlinson says that from Petrozavodsk, which General Maynard was in a position to "threaten," an advance to Petrograd "presents no great difficulties." It is of no avail now to speculate further upon what might have happened, especially as, apart from the military factors, we must also reckon with Lord Rawlinson's curt remark, that "there was danger of Bolshevism spreading." This might have been the dominating influence, in any case.

SAN DIEGO'S WELCOME TO THE PRINCE.

Describing the splendid reception accorded to the Prince of Wales at San Diego, the Special Correspondent of The Times, telegraphing on Wednesday, says—The Public Reception Committee, headed by the Mayor, and including representatives of 3,000 British residents and visitors from many parts of California, had prepared a lavish welcome, and a holiday had been proclaimed in the city. The Prince fully justified his reputation and delighted everybody. About 250 British ex-soldiers, including an Indian veteran, South African veterans, and 73 San Diego men who fought in the British Army in the great war (many of them in the Flying Corps), were lined up before the cheering thousands on the waterfront. The Prince insisted on speaking to every man, and was delighted at seeing a British nurse and several Australians, who are learning Californian irrigation methods on their way home. At the huge stadium, adds the Correspondent, where 20,000 were assembled, the Prince had to speak, without trenching on politics, with four cinemas perched staring within a few feet of him, and with the huge horns of the "Magna Vox" in front of his face, this wonderful instrument carrying the sound to the furthermost parts of the immense building. To add to his worries, three aeroplanes made a deafening hum, and photographers began snapshooting. The Prince bore himself splendidly, showing no nervousness, speaking clearly and bravely into the instrument, and arousing cheers among the most distant people.

RUHR CRISIS.

FRANCE'S PRECIPITATE ACTION.

A DELICATE SITUATION.

THE ALLIES' ATTITUDE.

With reference to the Ruhr Valley situation, the Press Association learns from an authoritative source that, in deciding to advance into the neutral zone, France acted entirely on her own responsibility. Great Britain, Italy, Belgium, and America were all opposed to the plan, and France's military action has caused an obviously delicate situation. The subject is in process of discussion between the British and the French Governments, and it is hoped that the situation may be eased. When the trouble broke out in the neutral zone, it was essential that steps should be taken to restore order, and it was a question whether Allied or German forces should act. One proposal put forward was that Germany should be made responsible for restoring order, and be allowed to send forces into the Ruhr area, under the strictest guarantees defined by Marshal Foch. It suggested that Allied officers should accompany German troops to determine when their retirement was justified. Another proposal was to leave the decision to the German Government, with the strict proviso that if the zone was not evacuated as soon as circumstances permitted the Allies would secure to themselves the option of occupying important German centres to enforce their demands.

The German Government appears to have acted precipitately, and France to have responded by adopting the plan which was to have been only a last-resort method, and was then to have been the affair of the Allies, and not of any one of them singly.

Britain, Italy, Belgium, and the United States, all felt that the task of restoring order should be with Germany, and were all opposed to the idea of their regular forces being called upon, except as a last resort, to undertake duties which were virtually police duties.

France, with her long experience of the German yoke, and of the proved worth of the German assurances, evidently concluded that the moving up of the troops into the neutral zone was undertaken with some ulterior object, and not solely with the view to restoring order.

She doubtless acted bona fide, but the immediate result is that the responsibility of her action cannot be shared by the Allies as a whole, and certainly there is no intention on the part of the British Government of allowing British soldiers to act as police between hostile German factions. The view taken in London is that our Army of Occupation is on the Rhine for a totally different purpose.

If and when the French suspicion of ulterior motives on the part of Germany, and of a deliberate flaunting of the terms of the Peace Treaty become accomplished facts, the situation will change instantly, and the Allies would then, doubtless, be prepared to act vigorously and in concert. But for the time being it may be taken that no British soldier will participate in the occupation of German cities in the neutral zone.

MEETING OF THE CABINET.

The Prime Minister was visited at 10 Downing street yesterday by the French Ambassador. Subsequently there was a meeting of the Cabinet, over which the Prime Minister presided. The sitting was a long one, and the whole question of the French advance into the neutral zone was discussed.

STATEMENT BY GENERAL DEGOUTTE.

General Degoutte, Commander-in-Chief of the Allied Armies on the Rhine, interviewed on Wednesday evening by the Havas Agency representative on returning from a tour of inspection of the new sector of occupation, said that the first day of the occupation of Frankfort passed without incident. The welcome from the people was almost cordial. Upon orders received from Berlin a marked effervescence became noticeable in the town. This excitement, exacerbated by disorderly elements in the population, degenerated into violence. The French soldiers, in self-defence, were compelled to use their arms. To my knowledge there were no casualties among our soldiers. The incident showed how necessary it is to keep a strict watch on what is going on in Berlin. For that reason the events in the Ruhr region are occupying all my attention. The Ruhr mishap and what is happening here cannot be considered separately. The General added:—We can cast the responsibility for the disorders in Frankfort and the events in the Ruhr Basin on the Reactionary Militarist Party. The Berlin Government allowed the Reichswehr to invade the industrial region without any necessity, because such was the desire of Dr. Kapp, General von Luettwitz, and others.

Questioned if the Berlin Government after the occupation of German towns by the French would recall the Reichswehr, the General answered quickly: "They will never do that. Hitherto 13,000 tons of coal had been received from Ruhr, but not one ton has now passed the frontier."

POSITION AT FRANKFORT.

Reuter's Paris Correspondent, telegraphing on Thursday, says:—A Frankfort message states that quiet has been restored in Frankfort, and the authorities have pacified the students. The Municipal Council's proclamation urges the population to remain calm. The Police Security Guards, who were disarmed at the time of the occupation, will be conducted outside the zone of occupation. In the Ruhr region the Reichswehr troops have occupied Essen. The armed workmen who have fled to the British zone number several thousands, and about a thousand more are expected, who will be disarmed.

BRITISH AND AMERICAN ATTITUDE.

GERMAN RUMOUR DENIED.

The following French semi-official statement was published on Thursday in Paris:—Certain agencies, inspired by Germany, have circulated throughout Germany and certain neutral countries a rumour that France had been summoned by Great Britain and the United States to have Frankfort evacuated by her troops. The news, which is obviously tendencious, and which has aroused a certain amount of excitement in the regions recently occupied, is absolutely devoid of foundation.

GERMANY SEEKS TO PROLONG THE OCCUPATION.

A Reuter's telegram, dated Berlin, Thursday, says:—The Berliner Tageblatt is informed that the Government is negotiating with the Entente for the prolongation to July 10 of the agreement of August 6, 1919, for the maintenance of troops in the neutral zone, pleading that a strong police force is required to maintain order in that area.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR'S DENIAL OF RUMOURS.

A message dated Paris, Thursday, says:—Asked by Reuter's Correspondent whether he had anything to say regarding the published statement that he had made it clear at the meeting of Ambassadors yesterday that British statesmen view the German situation pretty much from the French standpoint, and are undoubtedly sympathetic in their attitude, the British Ambassador said that it was absolutely untrue that he had made a word of comment on the present situation in Germany, or as to the attitude of the British Government in their relations with the French at the Ambassadors' Conference yesterday. He added—I confined myself to saying that I would at once transmit M. Millerand's statement to my Government. I have neither publicly nor privately offered any opinion whatever on this subject, nor shall I do so till I get instructions from my Government as to the course they wish me to pursue.

AMERICAN WOMEN AND IRISH INDEPENDENCE.

The New York Correspondent of The Times states in a message dated yesterday:—Washington's militant women sympathisers with Irish independence, frustrated in their attempts to embarrass the staff of the British Embassy, have, with characteristic ingenuity, begun to harass Mr. Bainbridge Colby, the new Secretary of State. Armed with placards bearing what purported to be extracts from a speech by Mr. Colby at an Irish mass meeting in New York following the uprising at Easter, 1916, three women yesterday began a silent patrol on three sides of the States Department building. The quotations from Mr. Colby's speech displayed on their banners read: "There is not a scintilla of legality in England's claim to rule Ireland. The death of your martyrs has called into existence millions of Irishmen by principle. I cannot stand by mute and passionless as these votive offerings are laid upon the altars of patriotism." Mr. Colby was in conference with the French Ambassador all the time that the picketing continued, so he did not witness the demonstration. Later he declined to comment on the incident, and was apparently not disposed to ask the police to interfere. A single night in the Washington Jail, as the result of their indignant refusal to furnish bail, seems to have been sufficient to cool the ardour of the four women who were arrested in front of the British Embassy on Tuesday. Yesterday they receded from their position, and were released on bail of £200 each, furnished by Mr. John M. Trant and Mr. Jeremiah O'Connor, on behalf of a group of Irish admirers. The women went to their homes, pending their appearance on Monday on a charge of offering an insult to the representatives of a friendly Power. It was announced that £4,600 had already been subscribed in Washington and New York for their defence.

MASSACRES IN ARMENIA.

DESPARING MESSAGES.

Reuter's Agency learns that official confirmation has been received from Armenian sources of the massacre of the Armenian population of Goktcha, and of the complete destruction of that region, one of the most flourishing of the whole of Armenia. The first information now to hand, dated December 29, states that the Armenian Prime Minister has received the following:—"The Tartars of Arbudad and Nakhitchevan, after bombarding the village of Akoulis, have massacred the population, and are now advancing towards Upper Akoulis." Two days later a brief telegram was received from Bishop Nerecss, which read as follows:—"Akoulis no longer figures on the map." On January 4 the Bishop sent the following message:—"All massacred; am prevented from communicating details."

LITHUANIA AND RUSSIA.

PROPOSED NEGOTIATIONS.

A Reuter message from Copenhagen says:—A Kovno telegram states that the Bolshevik Foreign Affairs Commissary has informed Lithuania that the Soviet Government has agreed to a proposal to begin peace negotiations. The Soviet recognises the complete independence of Lithuania, and agrees to the delimitation of Lithuania on an ethnographic basis. Negotiations will begin on April 15th, at Moscow. The Lithuanian Government replied that it demands unequivocal recognition of the condition that the towns of Vilna and Grodno are absolutely to be assigned to Lithuania, and unconditional recognition of the independence of Lithuania is to be established.

NEW YORK HARBOUR STRIKE.

In a message, dated New York, Thursday, Reuter's Correspondent says:—The leaders of the harbour workers now on strike have refused the requests of Mr. W. R. Flounders, Director of the Inland Shipping Board of the British Ministry of Shipping, that Union crews should be permitted to transport food from the railroad termini to British liners for shipment to England, where the food would be sold at cost price. The leaders advised Mr. Flounders to appeal direct to the railroads, which, they say, are boasting of the number of boats they have in service in spite of the strike.

AMERICA AND GERMANY.

Mr. Campbell, Chairman of the Rules Committee, says a Washington message, dated Thursday, to-day opened the debate in the House of Representatives on a joint resolution declaring the war with Germany at an end. The matter is to be voted upon to-morrow night. That the resolution will be adopted was indicated to-day when a motion limiting the duration of the debate to nine hours was passed by 213 votes to 155. Six Democrats are joining the Republicans in supporting the resolution.

A COUNTY CORK OUTRAGE.

WANTON DAMAGE IN CATHEDRAL.

The Church of Ireland Cathedral at Rosscarbery, Co. Cork, was entered on Wednesday night, and a statue of the late Lord Carbery, the work of an Italian sculptor, which is valued at £1,000, was broken beyond repair.

THE INTERVIEW WITH LORD FRENCH.

In the London Daily Express to-day, Mr. Greenwall, the Special Correspondent who interviewed the Lord Lieutenant at the Viceregal Lodge on Tuesday, maintains the accuracy of the statements which he made in that interview, and gives a full account of the alleged circumstances and character of his conversation with Lord French. The journal, in a leading article, strongly takes the side of its Special Correspondent.

LIVERPOOL AND THE IRISH CATTLE TRADE.

Our Liverpool Correspondent writes:—The trouble which recently arose through the stoppage of week-end Irish cattle shipments to Liverpool may be overcome when the proposal adopted yesterday by the Mersey Docks and Harbour Board is put into operation. Some two or three months ago shipments were interfered with in consequence of a more rigorous application of the by-law prohibiting Sunday labour. Irish shippers for years had despatched their supplies on Saturdays, but as, under the new régime, they could not be dealt with on Sundays, they had to discontinue doing so, and the Monday market, one of the best of the week, was missed. The Dock Board has now decided to revise the by-law governing Sunday labour, and to permit their general manager to issue permits for work to be performed on Sundays where it is advisable. The proposal has to be confirmed by the Ministry of Transport.

SOCIETY OF UNITED IRISHWOMEN.

The annual report of the Society of the United Irishwomen for the year 1919 states that during the year sixty new members joined the central body of the Society, thirty-one as members and twenty-nine as associates. There was some falling away of old members, but the roll of membership showed an increase upon last year, the total number now on the roll being 612 in the central body. The branch membership consisted of 1,373, making a total of 1,985 in the United Irishwomen Society. There had been a slight falling off in members' subscriptions, which amounted to £184 12s., as against £194 0s. 10d. for the previous year. The total income for the year amounted to £2,189 4s. 3d., and the total expenditure amounted to £1,304 9s. 10d., being an increase of income over expenditure of £884 14s. 5d. The several funds were increased from £678 0s. 3d. at the beginning of the year to £1,562 14s. 8d. at the end. There were forty-eight branches of the Society at the end of the year, as against forty-six at the beginning.

MISSING GIRL VIOLINIST.

Miss Leonora Darbey, the missing violinist, was discovered in Liverpool yesterday afternoon. She was in good health, and appeared to be quite happy. The police received an intimation yesterday morning that the missing violinist was in Liverpool, with her male friend, and after a thorough search of boarding-houses they succeeded in tracing them. The couple were out when police officers called, but on their return they readily admitted their identity. It is understood that the couple have been married.

MR. BARRIE, M.P., AND THE HOME RULE BILL.

A large gathering of Unionists attended the annual meeting of North Derry Women's Unionist Association in Coleraine on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Hugh T. Barrie, D.L., M.P., Vice-President of the Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction, who presided, said that at a time when many reputations had suffered eclipse, Sir Edward Carson stood out as one of the few strong men who had shown statesmanship, consistency, courage, and resolution. (Hear, hear.) In times gone by they could rely on the British Unionist Party supporting them in their determined opposition to any kind of an Irish Parliament. Last week's division showed that they could no longer do so. Facing the altered situation, it was, he thought, well that Ulster should make the best terms she could; and while they would infinitely have preferred to retain their full membership in the Imperial Parliament, yet in reduced numbers they should still be able to take their part in her deliberations. At home they would have much useful work for the new Parliament. If, as anticipated, Ulster secured the services of her best citizens, they should be able to pass progressive legislation concerning temperance, education, agriculture, insurance, etc., which should prove of the greatest advantage to the people. (Applause.)

SHOW AND SALE OF BRITISH FRIESIAN CATTLE.

At the annual show and sale held by the British Friesian Cattle Society at Crewe yesterday 92 animals realised £17,620. In the class for bull calves Alexander Jack's Kingswood Ceres Prince 1st prize winner, which also gained the championship of the show, realised 1,600 guineas—the highest price of the sale; while A. and J. Brown's Hedges Pies Albert, 2nd prize winner, was sold for 1,050 guineas to E. Welton. 1,200 guineas was paid by J. Bean, Kidderminster, for the British Friesian Society's bull, Routh Doric. In the class for bulls calved between October 1st, 1918, and March 31st, last year, William Brown's Kingswood was first, and was bought by Hugh Andrews, Winchcombe, Gloucester, for 650 guineas. First prize for bulls calved in 1918, before October 1st, to William Brown's Colton Vic Bertus, when [illegible] Pyman, Penarth, bought for 650 guineas.

CRIME IN IRELAND.

FIFTEEN MONTHS' FIGURES.

36 MURDERS AND 400 RAIDS FOR ARMS.

A White Paper was issued yesterday as a return showing, with dates, the number of murders of members of the Royal Irish Constabulary and of the Dublin Metropolitan Police, and of soldiers, officials, and civilians, and the number of political outrages on persons and property in Ireland since the 1st day of January, 1919. This return was asked for by Lord Robert Cecil on 31st March.

The outrages "attributed to the Sinn Fein movement" from January 1, 1919, to March 29, 1920, number 1,089. In Ulster there were 95, in Leinster (including the D.M.P. district) 269, in Connaught 137, and in Munster 588.

MURDERS AND ASSAULTS.

There were 36 murders, 31 victims being military, police, or officials, and five civilians. There were no murders in Ulster, but 11 in Leinster, two in Connaught, and 23 in Munster.

The police were fired at 55 times, 37 occasions being in Munster; the military 12 times, and civilians 14 times.

Assaults on the police numbered 15 and on civilians 17.

RAIDS FOR ARMS.

The raids made for robbery, burglary, and larceny of arms, ammunition, and explosives numbered over 400. Fifteen were made on the police, 22 on the military, and 389 on civilians.

Incendiary fires numbered 47, injury to property 103, firing into dwellings 54, threatening letters 166, and miscellaneous offences 144.

SHOOTING OUTRAGE IN COUNTY CARLOW.

POLICE SERGEANT WOUNDED.

Our Carlow Correspondent telegraphs that on Tuesday night when Sergeant Sullivan, R.I.C., and two constables were returning to Tullow from an outside district, they were fired at from the roadside.

Sergeant Sullivan received several grains of shot about the head, but he was not seriously wounded. His assailants got away in the darkness.

TIPPERARY BARRACK ATTACKED.

ARMED MEN DRIVEN OFF.

Our Thurles Correspondent telegraphed last evening as follows:—Roskeen Constabulary Barrack was attacked by armed men last night. Little damage was done and there were no serious casualties. The attack did not last long owing to the early arrival of reinforcements of soldiers and policemen from Thurles, which is distant about seven miles. On their appearance the attackers retired under cover of darkness.

At 11 p.m. the Thurles police received word of the attack, and at once proceeded in two motor vans to the scene. Firing was in progress when they arrived, the besieged and besiegers replying vigorously to each other. When near Roskeen the police vans received a volley of bullets, and a police constable, the driver of one car, was struck in the hand. The police returned the fire.

At midnight, in response to a police message, a detachment of the Northampton Regiment left Thurles in charge of an officer for Roskeen, but when they arrived there all was quiet. They examined Roskeen Barrack, and found the garrison of fourteen men all safe. Several bullet marks were on the building and two missiles had pierced the roof.

LATER PARTICULARS.

Telegraphing later, our Thurles Correspondent says:—Further inquiries regarding the Roskeen attack show that it was not of a very determined character, but was rather a ruse for the purpose of getting into the open the police reinforcements coming from outside stations, particularly from Thurles, and attacking them in the darkness. It was 10.30 p.m. when the first volley was fired at Roskeen, and it appeared to come from some distance away. Volleys came fitfully. Several shots struck the building, but the attack lacked the energy generally associated with these outrages. The roads in the vicinity were not blocked, nor were the telegraph wires cut. Verey lights went up from the barrack, and soon reinforcements were moving out from Thurles.

A COUNTY CORK INCIDENT.

The little hamlet of Palmore, near Youghal, was, our Youghal Correspondent telegraphs, subjected to a lively raid on Wednesday night, and two men were wounded, one of them seriously. It appears that a party of cyclists passed through Gurtroe, coming from the Killeagh direction, about ten o'clock, leaving scouts at various points. They visited several houses, demanding subscriptions to the "National Loan." They then left, but subsequently returned to James Griffin's house and demanded his gun. He said that he had no guns, but they insisted that his son James had. The latter was in bed at the time, and he jumped out and went into another room. Having searched his bedroom, the raiders went to the other room, struck a match and threw it into the room. Griffin put out his foot to extinguish it, and one of the raiders fired, wounding him in the leg. He returned the fire, and a number of them rushed in and seized hold of the gun, but after a fierce struggle they desisted. Subsequently they went to the house of another man named Griffin and commandeered a trap, saying: "One of our men is badly wounded, and we want to go to Youghal for a priest and doctor." In the morning a hat covered with blood was found in a field.

ANOTHER POLICE BARRACK BURNED.

The vacant police barrack at Clonea, Co. Waterford, five miles from Carrick-on-Suir, was destroyed early on Thursday morning. It was burned with petrol by a number of men.

Up to Wednesday claims amounting to £5,600 had been received by Mr. J. J. Quaid, Secretary to Limerick County Council, for compensation in respect of the burning of Constabulary barracks in the county. Yesterday additional claims were received from the sergeants of six stations for compensation for the loss of household effects burned in the barracks. Colonel O'Grady has lodged a claim for £5,000 compensation for the burning of Herbertstown (Co. Limerick) Barracks, and the Limerick Income Tax Office £50 for the destruction of documents.

Mr. James Griffin, J.P., has lodged a claim for £1,000 for the destruction of Labasheeda (County Clare) Police Barracks, burned on Saturday night.

Constable Crawley has lodged a claim for £1,200 for furniture, etc., burned in Ballynacally Barrack on Saturday night.

The Great Southern and Western Railway Company claim £2,500 for the robbery from the paymaster's train at Killonan, County Limerick.

The claims for the burning down of barracks and for cattle driving so far received by the Roscommon County Council total £8,884.

THE MURDER OF MR. ALAN BELL.

£10,000 COMPENSATION CLAIMED.

A claim for £10,000 compensation for the shooting of Mr. Alan Bell, Resident Magistrate, of Belgrave square, Monkstown, has been lodged with the Dublin Corporation and the Dublin County Council on behalf of Mrs. Ellen Sheriff Bell, his widow and personal representative. Mr. Bell, it will be remembered, was dragged from a Dalkey tramcar at Simmonscourt road, Ballsbridge, on 26th March, and shot dead on the roadside. It is understood that the claim will be heard at Green street Courthouse on 3rd May.

THE THURLES OUTBURST.

JUDGE MOORE'S SUGGESTION.

Judge Moore, sitting at Thurles yesterday, awarded between £400 and £500 for claims by residents of the town for damage to their dwellings and shops on the night of January 20th. On that night a policeman was shot in the town, and some hours later a body of men went through the streets shooting at the houses. No evidence was given as to who caused the damage, but all sides appeared to be agreed that policemen were the offenders.

Judge Moore, in awarding compensation in one of the cases, said that the offenders in this case were the police. According to what happened in the Fermoy case, I think that this is a case that should be met by the Crown. I do not see how the people should be made amenable and pay these claims. What I would wish to do in principle is to put the cost on the Police Force. In law I cannot do it. I assume that the Crown will meet these cases. I see that there is no one here appearing for them. I do not know what their sympathies may be with the men who were provoked; but still it was an illegal act done by the representatives of the Crown.

THE BALTINGLASS SHOOTING.

Yesterday, Judge Dromgoole, sitting at Baltinglass, heard claims on behalf of Constables Malynn and M'Partland for injuries received on the evening of January 24. The evidence showed that Constable M'Partland was leaving his house near the barrack, when he was fired at by five or six men, and shot in the left hand. At the same time, Constable Malynn opened the barrack door, and was shot in the body, the bullet lodging in his spine. The medical evidence showed that the constable, who is in an hospital in Dublin, is completely paralysed in the lower portion of his body, that he cannot recover, and probably will not live for another six months. He is a married man with one child, and had formerly been a policeman in Hull. In his case £8,000 is claimed, and Constable M'Partland claims £1,000. Judge Dromgoole reserved judgment.

THE MURDER OF MR. MACCURTAIN.

INQUEST RESUMED AT CORK.

ADDITIONAL POLICE EVIDENCE.

Telegraphing from Cork last night, our Reporter says—After an adjournment for a week, the inquest touching the death of Alderman Thomas MacCurtain, late Lord Mayor of Cork, was resumed in the City Hall here this afternoon by Mr. J. J. McCabe, Coroner. Interest in the proceedings was again very marked, the hall being crowded. Armed police as usual occupied positions in the vestibule and the corridors.

Mr. Jasper Wolfe, Crown Solicitor, appeared for the authorities, and Messrs. P. Lynch, K.C., and J. Crowley (instructed by Mr. O'Connor) for the next-of-kin.

The first witness examined was Constable James Gardner, King Street Police Station, who stated that he left the barracks at 6 o'clock on the night of the 19th March, and slept in his lodgings that night. He was unarmed. He first heard of the Lord Mayor's death between ten and half-past ten o'clock on the following morning when he returned to the barracks.

Answering Mr. Lynch, the witness stated that he was at home on the night of the 10th of March. He did not see any traces in the city on the morning of the 11th March of what had occurred on the previous night.

Constable T. A. McCarthy, who slept in No. 10 room in King Street Barracks on the night in question, gave evidence similar to that of other constables who have been already examined.

Cross-examined by Mr. Lynch, the witness stated that he slept in King Street Barracks on the night of the 10th March.

Were you there, asked Mr. Lynch, when rifles were taken out of the room? The witness replied—"I was not in the room; I was down in the kitchen."

Did you see men going out with rifles? I saw them going out, but I could not say whether they had rifles or not.

Sergeants Lett and Crowley, who were in lodgings on the night in question, were also examined.

Sergeant Sullivan, who lives in lodgings, situated about two hundred yards from the Lord Mayor's residence, stated that he heard no shots on the night in question.

Asked by Mr. Lynch if he had been personally investigating the murder, he said that he had been making some inquiries after his transfer to Blackpool.

Did you, questioned Mr. Lynch, make any search for a man six feet two inches in height? No, said the witness. He knew James Mahoney, who had given evidence, but the witness never asked him for a description of the men who knocked him on the road. Neither did he question any of the men who swore that they were lined up against the wall.

Mr. Lynch—Was it on your own account or acting on instructions that you made these inquiries? On my own account.

Constables Morrison and Foley having been examined, Constable James West, Sundays Well Police Station, stated he was barrack orderly at that station on the night of the 19-20th. It was his duty to keep the station diary, which he produced. When he went on duty that night there were two sergeants and six constables in the barrack, and when he went off duty there was one less in number. Constable Joseph Murtagh, who was one of the constables stationed at the barrack, went off duty at 7.30 p.m. on four hours' leave, and that fact was recorded in the diary. He never saw Constable Murtagh afterwards, and heard of his murder on the night of the 19th at 11.35.

Police witnesses from the Shandon Police Barrack were also examined, and the movements of policemen in this station were detailed.

Constable Maher, Barrack Orderly at Tuckey street on the night in question, produced the diary for that date, and in reply to Mr. Lynch said that the Thomas Ashe Club was in the Union Quay district.

Who broke up the Sinn Fein Club on the night of March 10th? I could not tell you.

Constable James Hayes, Barrack Orderly in College Road Station, gave evidence as to the movements of the police stationed in that barrack on 19th March.

EVIDENCE FROM OTHER STATIONS.

Sergeant Patrick Murphy proved to leaving Shandon Police Barrack at 10.30 p.m. for his lodgings, where he slept during the night of the 19th. He was falling asleep when he heard the noise of a shot, and then a second one. He first heard of the Lord Mayor's murder when he was getting up in the morning.

Constable P. Keeffe, Barrack Orderly at Shandon Police Station, detailed the movements of the police at that barrack on the night in question.

Head Constable Clarke, Shandon Barrack, gave evidence as to supervising beat duty in Cork North on the night of the 19th. The witness went on to describe the finding of the body of Constable Murtagh at Pope's Quay on the night in question. It was 12.50 when he went to bed, and it was 8 o'clock next morning when he heard of the murder of the Lord Mayor from the Barrack Orderly.

Constable Morrissey, Lower Glanmire Road Station, stated that he was Barrack Orderly at that barrack on the night of the 19th, and produced the station diary. He detailed the movements of policemen stationed in the barrack, and said that no person entered or left the station between 11.30 at night and 5.30 in the morning. The rifles of the men out in lodgings that night were kept in one of the bedrooms.

Constable James King, Barrack Orderly at Blackrock Road Station on the night in question, stated that no person left or entered the barracks between 11 at night and 5 o'clock in the morning. The rifles in the barracks were not disturbed during the night.

Constable Milner, Barrack Orderly at Cornmarket Street Station, gave similar evidence.

Cross-examined by Mr. Lynch, the witness said that as Barrack Orderly he had no check on people going out to lodgings until they came back again.

Constable Denis Roche, barrack orderly at Union Quay Station, produced the station diary. He stated that after 12.30 o'clock on the morning of the 20th there was no man out of Union Quay Barrack, except those in lodgings. None of the men going out to lodgings that night took rifles with them. There were three police motor cars in Cork, which were kept in the yard at Union quay, and none of them was out that night.

Cross-examined by Mr. Lynch, the witness said that one sergeant and two constables were out on patrol that night. They returned about 11.15.

Mr. Lynch—Is there any record in the patrol book of a patrol that night?

Witness—Yes.

Mr. Lynch (producing the patrol book)—Is there any record of such a patrol?

Witness, after examining the book, said—No; there is no record there. In reply to further questions, he admitted that there was no record of special duty men being sent out on that day. Such special duty men would be in plain clothes, and a record would not be kept as in the case of uniformed men. Witness stated that the roll call would not include any member of the Force who came from an outside station for the night. There was no record in the station diary that a Constable Keating, from Midleton, Co. Cork, slept in the barracks that night. As a matter of fact, there was not the slightest doubt that he did sleep there.

Mr. Lynch—What was the reason that they first put him down as lodging at Queen's Hotel and then struck it out?

Witness—I cannot account for that. The witness further stated that at 11.15 two sergeants and six constables returned to barracks off beat duty, and at the same hour a head constable, a sergeant, and twelve men went out on duty armed with rifles, and returned at 12 o'clock.

The inquest was adjourned till to-day at 10.30 o'clock.

PROTESTANT ORPHAN SOCIETY.

The monthly meeting of the Committee of the Protestant Orphan Society was held in the boardroom, 28 Molesworth street, Dublin, on Thursday, April 1st—Mr. Edward Robinson in the chair. Present:—Revs. A. W. Ardagh, M.A.; J. Haythornthwaite, M.A.; Henry C. Cave, M.A.; Francis H. W. Archbold, M.A.; W. M. Gibbon, M.A.; E. J. Young, B.D.; Messrs. James Robinson, M.A.; N. C. Niven, T. J. E. Ashley, and G. W. Marsh. Apologies for non-attendance were received from Rev. Canon J. G. Day, M.A., and Rev. J. G. D. Pyper, M.A. The monthly financial statement was submitted and approved, and cheques were drawn for the various payments contained therein. There were eleven applications from orphans, all of whom were elected.

THE "OFFICERS' FRIEND" AT MULLINGAR.

Lieutenant-Colonel Holmes-Wilson, "Officers' Friend," Ministry of Pensions, Ireland, South Region, will be present at the Greville Arms Hotel, Mullingar, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. to 4.30 p.m. on Wednesday, 14th April, for the purpose of interviewing naval and military officers, ex-officers, nurses, widows or the dependents of deceased officers, with a view to assisting them in getting their claims to pensions and gratuities settled. Applicants in the possession of papers relating to their case should produce them. The Headquarters of the "Officers' Friend" Branch, Ireland, South Region, are 41 Upper Fitzwilliam street, Dublin, to which all correspondence should be addressed.

BELFAST SINN FEIN COUNCILLOR DISQUALIFIED.

The Belfast Corporation yesterday confirmed the minutes of the Law Committee, recommending that Councillor M'Carolan's seat in the Shankill area be declared vacant in consequence of his having been sentenced to six months' imprisonment with hard labour.

SOCIAL SERVICE CONFERENCE.

VOLUNTARY EFFORT IN EDUCATION.

THE CHILD AND THE ADULT.

The Master of Balliol presided over the morning session of the National Educational Council of the Social Service Conference in the Sheldonian Theatre at Oxford yesterday, when the subject was the scope of voluntary effort in education. The Conference greeted with applause a declaration at the outset by Mr. J. A. Legge, Director of Education for Liverpool, that, in accordance with the essentially British principle of self-government, we had no desire to allow ourselves in the great work of reconstruction to be dominated entirely by officials, or official agencies. What was needed was an educated laity, which could play its part in controlling the official machine side-by-side with the tight official administration. There should be a looser, more flexible administrative system in the hands of voluntary workers. In the matters of health and education there was now an immense opportunity for voluntary work in stimulating, supporting, and supplementing official effort.

Miss Margaret McMillan, Deptford Health Centre, speaking on the nursery school of to-morrow, said that England had for decades been trying by philanthropic effort to rescue the lives of precious children from the gutter, but the nation had never worked out any positive scheme, or created any agency, which could deal adequately with the matter until the new Education Act made that new order of school possible. The whole energy of the country's social workers should be directed, not to curative, but to preventive work. The highest form of preventive work would be in the nursery school, which took the child before his state could get hopeless, and put him on his feet in the first seven years of life. The London County Council were beginning with six of the new schools, including three on open-air lines. Only by giving proper nurture to children could we have a new England.

The scope of voluntary effort in adult education was the subject of a paper by Mr. Arthur Greenwood, of the Workers' Educational Association.

Winding up the discussion, the Master of Balliol said that they could not, perhaps, actually teach character, but they could create an environment which would make it easy to learn. Character was an indirect result of education. The attempt to teach it directly sometimes defeated its own object, and at its best produced prigs, where it did not produce rebels. Personally he would prefer rebels to prigs. The morning's discussion was particularly important at a time when we were at a turning point between the old extreme reliance on voluntary effort, and the tendency to call upon the State for every purpose. The strength of England had always been its voluntary effort, but it was one-sided, and we wanted the organised conscience of the community—what we called the State—as well.

ROYAL HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

THE SPRING SHOW.

The Spring Flower Show of the Royal Horticultural and Arboricultural Society of Ireland was held yesterday afternoon in the Earl of Iveagh's covered yard off Earlsfort terrace, Dublin. It was generally conceded by the visitors present that the place was an ideal one for the Show. Although the number of exhibits was below the average, their high quality was sufficient to justify the opinion that, on the whole, the Show was one of the prettiest yet held by the Society at this season. Two features of outstanding merit were Messrs. Hogg and Robertson's gold medal exhibits of bulbs and spring flowers—magnificent narcissus, tulips, and anemones—from "Holland in Ireland," at Rush, Co. Dublin, and a splendid collection of daffodils grown by an amateur—Mr. J. Lionel Richardson, Prospect House, Waterford. Fruit was remarkably good for the season, but limited in quantity, and vegetables were also good. Hardy flowers, which included shrubs, made a striking display. The success of the Show was due in no small measure to the energy of the Secretary, Mr. Edward Knowldin, F.R.H.S., who carried out the arrangements with his well-known ability and foresight.

The following is a list of the awards:—

Roses, pot (the Lord Ardilaun Challenge Cup).—Major Kelly, Montrose, Donnybrook (gardener, Mr. MacDermott).

Alpine Plants in Flower.—1, Mrs. Greer, Curragh Grange.

Gold Medal—Collection of Daffodils.—J. L. Richardson.

THE INCUMBENCY OF DRUMBEG.

Yesterday the Rev. Samuel Hemphill, D.D., Litt.D., Chancellor of Christ Church Cathedral, was unanimously elected Incumbent of Drumbeg, Belfast, Diocese of Connor.

KINGSTOWN METHODIST CHURCH.

A meeting will be held this evening at eight o'clock in the Kingstown Methodist Church in the interests of foreign missions. Mr. E. W. Hall will preside. An address will be given by the Rev. A. O. Brown, of Madras. On Sunday next Services will be held at 11.30 a.m. and 7 p.m. The special preacher will be the Rev. W. H. Spencer, of Mysore. Offerings will be received for missionary work.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN IRELAND.

The Executive of the Women's Association for Foreign Missions met on Wednesday in the Church House, Belfast—Mrs. Hogg (Dublin) in the chair. There was a very large attendance. Mrs. Coey, Hon. Treasurer, gave in the financial statement, which showed that at 31st March the overdraft in the bank was £2,718 8s. 5d. Two candidates appeared before the Committee. One was most heartily accepted for work in India, to leave this autumn, and the other to go for training to the U.F. Women's Missionary Training College in Edinburgh.

THE HIBERNIAN CHURCH MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The receipts in the Dublin office of the Hibernian Church Missionary Society for the year ended March 31st, 1920, amounted to the sum of £39,339. A rough calculation of moneys sent direct to the London office adds at least another £2,000 to this figure, making an estimated total of £41,339. The total for the previous year was £25,864, so that there has been an increase of £15,475—that is, about 60 per cent. This is the highest income ever received by the Society. The previous highest was in 1917-18, when an unusually large legacy of £7,000 brought the receipts up to £31,476. This year, with no abnormal legacy item, has thus beaten the previous highest record by about £10,000.

SPECIAL EXTRA.

HUGE PRICE FOR RARE MSS.

VOLUMES MISSING FOR CENTURIES.

The extraordinary volume of Shakespeareana, the property of Mr. Francis Burton, of Longnor Hall, near Shrewsbury, which has been compared in value to the recent volume sold to American dealers for £15,000, has been disposed of privately.

Mr. Quaritch, the famous English dealer, was the purchaser. In an interview with a Daily Chronicle representative, he intimated that the price was a high one, and he could only add that the precious volume would pass into the hands of a private person, and not into a public collection.

Considerable applause came from the crowded room, filled with Society women and wealthy bibliophiles and dealers, at the close of the sale of the second portion of the Yates-Thompson collection of illuminated MS. The auctioneer stated that the total was £77,965—a record.

The first lots, sold last year, realised just over £50,000, and there is still a concluding portion to be disposed of by public auction. People have come from all parts of the country to see these unique mediæval documents, and the Queen and Princess Mary came to see them at a private view.

Mr. Quaritch purchased the bulk of the MSS., and there was at times spirited bidding between him and Continental and American dealers.

One book—"Boccaccio des Cleres et Nobles Femmes"—was sold for £8,900, two volumes of Vincent de Beauvais: "Speculum Historiale" went to Mr. Quaritch for £6,700, and a Psalter of Paduan origin to the same dealer for £8,000.

A marvellous history is attached to the volumes of Vincent de Beauvais. Related by Mr. Yates-Thompson himself, it appears that this series of MS. figured in the catalogues of the Duc de Berri in 1402.

He gave it to Jehan de Montagu, who was afterwards executed. The Duke recovered it, and gave it to his nephew, Jean sans Peur (Fearless John), Duke of Burgundy. He held it for six years, and was then assassinated on the bridge of Montereau.

The volumes in 1420 were recorded in the library of Philippe le Bon at Bruges. From 1467 they disappeared for 400 years.

By chance the first volume was discovered in the library of a Dutch gentleman. Again it disappeared, until bought by Mr. Yates-Thompson at Sothebys in 1906.

Equally strange was the recovery of the second volume. It was lost from 1467 until it came to light in the Ashburnham Library and acquired by Mr. Yates-Thompson in 1897.

The career of the third volume has been more tragic. In 1467 Philippe de Bon catalogued it as containing 55 miniatures. Some demon carefully cut out the little pictures.

Seven disappeared, and the other 48 were found lying about in the British Museum many years ago. They are now carefully pasted into an album.

BACHELORS IN FRANCE.

TAX ON CELIBACY.

The proposal to inflict what is practically a direct tax on bachelors and spinsters, by imposing an extra payment of 10 per cent. on the income tax for which they would otherwise be liable (as recommended by the Finance Commission of the Chamber), has caused a good deal of both approval and alarm here (writes the Paris Correspondent of the Morning Post). In his original scheme M. Klotz, the former Minister of Finance, proposed that this tax should be at the rate of 50 per cent. more than the normal income tax payable. M. Georges Ancel, one of the Members of the Finance Commission, proposes that this should be reduced to an extra payment of 10 per cent., but that it should apply, provided they are liable to income tax, to all persons who have no parents or children to maintain, to widowed and divorced persons of both sexes, and to the clergy. Abbe Mugnier, who was questioned as a representative of the clergy, who would be affected by the new tax, displayed a refreshing spirit of resignation. "It is laid down," he said, "that the good pastor should sacrifice himself for his sheep, and we who preach sacrifice must be ready on every occasion to practise what we preach. In the present circumstances priests cannot ask to be allowed to benefit from special favours. We have given our blood; let us also give our money—even if we are allowed to have only a very little."

Mlle. Louise Abbema, the well-known artist, who is one of the few women of her profession to have been awarded membership of the Legion of Honour, looks at the proposal quite differently. "I protest," she exclaimed. "I am a bachelor woman, and I suffer from all the drawbacks of that condition; therefore I claim I am entitled to all the advantages of it. When you are a painter, like myself, you haven't time to get married. Many young women do not marry because they lack dowries, while others remain single because they are not sufficiently good-looking, which is obviously not their fault. It would be cruel to tax them because they are living lives which they themselves are the first to deplore."

NEW PLAN FOR LOAN.

ALTERNATIVE TO TAX ON WAR WEALTH.

An alternative plan to the taxation of war wealth was submitted to the Select Committee at Westminster by Mr. A. J. Hobson, Senior Vice-President of the Association of British Chambers of Commerce. It was his own scheme, he said, but it had the endorsement of the General Purposes Committee of the Association.

Present loans, said Mr. Hobson, were subject to possible fluctuations of income tax and super-tax. He believed that an issue of Government stock on the following terms would meet with great success:—

Loans for term of from 20 to 30 years.

Interest free from income tax and super-tax.

Capital value free from any future taxation, other than death duties.

Acceptance for death duties at issue price.

It was difficult, he added, to fix the rate of interest at which such a loan for, say, £1,500,000,000, could be issued, but he inclined to the opinion that 3½ per cent. would be a sufficient interest to pay. He believed that the objection to this loan was purely a political one. Labour would form the opinion that rich men subscribing to it had arranged to avoid taxation.

Taxation of war wealth, said Mr. Hobson, would affect the general credit of the country. He dissented emphatically from the proposition that the wealth of the country had increased as the result of the war, and challenged the whole basis of the estimates made by the Board of Inland Revenue.

Withdrawals of traders from business in consequence of inflation were going on, said witness, to an extent that was not realised. Such withdrawals were contrary to the national interest, and the lessening of competition arising therefrom was one of the causes of the present high rate of trading profits.

The Committee adjourned.

INVENTORS ENCOURAGED.

A London firm of engineers, with which the managing director of several Glasgow concerns is associated, is making an effort to encourage inventors in humble circumstances to develop their devices, writes the Glasgow Herald. First of all, they are invited to submit their plans, and if they reveal anything original the firm undertakes to make their models, and carry the invention through every process that should ultimately place it on the market as a commercial proposition. As it happens, the Imperial Institute of Patentees are prepared to examine plans on a somewhat similar basis, but their scheme does not so far permit of the full development of new inventions as the private firm contemplates. In neither case is there any pretension to philanthropy, but it is urged that many inventors waste their time and capabilities upon devices already patented, and therefore free consultation with a central body obviates all that. A slight percentage upon the patents which turn out successful is the only claim made for assistance to the inventor.

THE DISTURBANCES AT JERUSALEM.

MARTIAL LAW PROCLAIMED.

A telegram from Jerusalem, dated Wednesday, says—Martial law was proclaimed on April 5, the Commander of the Eighth Infantry Brigade taking control. The gates of the city are guarded, and entrance is forbidden. Mounted machine-gunners are patrolling the new city. In spite of this, however, scattered fights occurred between Jews and Mahommedans on Monday and Tuesday in the streets of the old city, and also outside the walls. The total casualties reported in the recent fighting are reported to be about 250, most of them slight. To-day normal conditions are being resumed.

ALLEGED UNLAWFUL ASSEMBLY.

At the Commission Court, Green street, Dublin yesterday, before Mr. Justice Dodd and a city jury, William J. Larkin, secretary to the Dublin Tenants' Association, was tried on a charge of unlawful assembly, in which he was alleged to have taken part, with a view to prevent a hoarding from being erected outside certain buildings in Riddell's row, Moore street, which it was the intention to pull down and repair because they were dangerous, on the 21st February last.

Mr. Thomas Connolly, who had entered into a contract for the removal of the upper storeys of the building, told the jury that he went to the place on February 21st for the purpose of erecting a hoarding around the front of the house for the protection of the public. The prisoner and a crowd of women assembled, and the prisoner said that he would not allow the hoarding to be put up. His manner was abusive and threatening. He told the people that, if they allowed the hoarding to be put up, their own houses would be treated in a like manner next day. The people put a table across the footway to prevent the work from going on. After a time witness and his men had to leave the place, being unable to get on with their work owing to the conduct of the prisoner and the crowd.

The prisoner, who conducted his own defence, cross-examined the witness with the view of showing that the premises were occupied by more than one family, amongst them being a sick woman.

The Judge—What right had you to interfere with an operation which was intended for the safety of the citizens of Dublin? You are not Lord Mayor yet.

The prisoner replied that he would show that he had a right to be there.

The witness said that the alleged sick woman was amongst the crowd in the street, and that the prisoner ordered her to bed.

Michael Alford, a partner of Mr. Connolly's, said that the prisoner came to him, called him an informer, and threatened to have him kicked out of the place. Owing to the conduct of the prisoner and the crowd he and his men were obliged to retire from the work.

The prisoner, in his address to the jury, said that if he had not been on the scene that morning, the crowd would have assaulted Mr. Connolly and his men, and worse results would have followed.

Mr. Justice Dodd, summing up the evidence to the jury, said that the work of removing a dangerous portion of a building that was occupied by women and children had been obstructed by the prisoner, who thought that he was the only man in Dublin who had a tender heart for his poorer fellow-citizens.

The jury were unable to agree to a verdict, and his Lordship said that, independent of the jury, he had power to find that the defendant had committed a breach of the peace, and to bind him over; but he did not like to do that unless it was absolutely necessary.

The prisoner promised not to interfere with the matter in question, and to come up for trial again at the next Commission.

He was then discharged.

REPORT FOR MARCH, 1920.

March was a very changeable month, with some spells of very warm weather, but cool in between. As a rule, the mean temperature for the month was slightly above normal. There was no hard frost, though ground frosts were fairly frequent. The barometer was very unsettled, with rapid changes, but the readings were usually low. The rainfall was considerably above the average at most stations. Totals for the month:—

EASTER VESTRIES.

ZION CHURCH, RATHGAR.—The annual Easter Vestry of Zion Church, Rathgar, was held in the Parochial Hall, on Monday, the Rev. L. P. Hill, M.A., incumbent, presiding. There was an attendance of 45 registered Vestrymen. The following appointments were made:—Incumbent's Churchwarden—W. B. Scott; People's Churchwarden—W. M. Bowers; Select Vestry—Orlando P. Beater, LL.D.; Seacome Mason, G. W. Barrett, R. W. Strahan, J. Allen, L. P. Harris, W. D. Hemsworth, J. G. Millard, W. Stokes, R. E. Mellon, J. H. Keith and N. G. Costello. On the motion of Mr. W. M. Bowers, seconded by Dr. O. P. Beater, the following resolution was proposed:—"That, in the opinion of this meeting of the General Vestry, the interests of Zion Church would be best served by bringing the church under the control of the Representative Church Body." An amendment, that the matter be postponed to a meeting to be held in October next, was defeated by a large majority, and the resolution was thereupon put to the meeting, and adopted without a vote.

CHRIST CHURCH, CARYSFORT, BLACKROCK.—The annual Easter Vestry of Christ Church, Carysfort, Blackrock, was held in the Parochial Hall on Tuesday. The Rev. Thomas Pearson, B.D., was in the chair. St Paul. HIS LIFE, LETTERS, AND CHRISTIAN DOCTRINE. By A. H. McNEILE, D.D., Regius Professor of Divinity in the University of Dublin. Crown 8vo. With 3 maps. 10s net.
"The Christianity of to-day," says the author, "is broadly speaking the Christianity of St Paul. The influence which he has exercised on the hearts and lives of men is unequalled by any other writer in the world's history." This book is intended to form an introduction to larger works on the subject by gathering together in a small compass the best that has been written concerning the apostle in recent years.

A History of American Literature. Edited by W. P. TRENT, LL.D., J. ERSKINE, Ph.D., S. P. SHERMAN, Ph.D., and C. VAN DOREN, Ph.D. 3 vols. Royal 8vo. Vols. I and II now ready. 17s 6d net each.
"The work has already proved its quality. It has been written with a natural sympathy tempered by judgment. . . . We are full of admiration for the qualities of temper and scholarship that have gone to its making."—The Outlook.

Coleridge and Wordsworth. Coleridge's Biographia Literaria (Chapters I-IV XIV-XXII) and Wordsworth's Prefaces and Essays on Poetry, 1800-1815. Edited by GEORGE SAMPSON, with an Introductory Essay by Sir ARTHUR QUILLER-COUCH. Crown 8vo. 10s net.

CENTRAL ASIA.

The Heart of Asia, where the Empires of Great Britain, Russia, and China meet, was little affected by the war, and Brigadier-General Sir Percy Sykes and his sister were able to give full rein to their love of the open road, unhampered by the restrictions which were imposed in less fortunate parts of the world. In March, 1915, General Sykes, accompanied by his sister, went out to Kashgar, the capital of Chinese Turkestan, to do duty for the Consul-General, who was taking leave. Between that time and the following November this intrepid and adventurous pair made the journey to the Russian Pamirs, "the Roof of the World."

Miss Sykes says that the love of adventure is part of the equipment of the true traveller. The book, however, is intended to arouse an interest in that strange backwater of Asia, and at the same time to convey to readers something of its distinctive charm. No attempt is made to pretend that the adventure was a round of picnics. Miss Sykes's costume alone would tend to discourage a woman of even more than average "temperament." It included puttees, blue spectacles, and a pith hat, and once she remarks: "I besmeared both face and feet plentifully with vaseline." The book is written in two parts. Part I., wholly contributed by Miss Sykes, deals with the adventure—nine months of journeyings in deserts, oases, mountains, and plains. Part II. is written by Brigadier-General Sykes, and in it he describes the geography, history, and customs of the people.

The book is of absorbing interest, and is written in an easy, conversational style. The difficulties of the way are told as well as the pleasures, but whether the latter were compensations must be left to the judgment of the reader. There is a very interesting account of a journey across Russia in 1915, when "to these people the war was then a holy one." The Russians, in common with the Persians, it is interesting to note, never whistle, as it is looked upon as "devilish speech." The Kashgaris positively forbid whistling. There is a particularly fine description of the noises of Kashgar and its sunsets, and the authoress casts some interesting sidelights on Chinese customs.

To Miss Sykes belongs the honour of being the first European woman to visit the Pamirs. For the weary miles of stumbling there were compensations in the shape of superb views and visions of remote and unearthly beauty. However, there were further drawbacks in the shape of "face swollen from the snow and sleet, my eyes sore from the sand, and my whole person grimy with dust." A lifeless monotony seemed to prevail on long stretches of the way, but drawbacks "matter little to the true traveller who has succumbed to the lure of the Open Road and to the glamour of the Back of Beyond." A tour across the desert from Kashgar to Khotan was also accomplished, and is described. Miss Sykes is the true traveller indeed, and is able, moreover, to write a very interesting narrative of her adventures.

"The more one travels the more one realises how the progress and prosperity of a country depend upon good communications and an abundant rainfall," says General Sykes in his chapter on the geography, government, and commerce of Chinese Turkestan. There follow most interesting chapters on the history of Chinese Turkestan from the early period, through mediæval times to the present day. There is a fine account of the happy life led by the Kashgar farmer, and a full description of the manners and customs which obtain in that country to-day.

General Sykes is a keen student of economic problems all over the world, a traveller and historian, but, above all, he is a mighty hunter. Even a man who has stalked nothing larger than a rabbit will thrill in reading the account of the stalking of the great sheep of Marco Polo, the Ovis Poli. By shooting one of these wild sheep the hunter of big game gains the blue riband, both for the magnificence of the trophy and the inaccessibility of its habitat. The book is illustrated from photographs taken by the travellers, and is provided with a map of the country.

THE TREES OF VIRGIL.

There is a perpetual charm in the "Georgics." Faultless craftsmanship, wedded to the keenest observation, communicates Virgil's delight in his subject to his readers in every age. Some time ago we dealt with Mr. Royds's scholarly book on the beasts, birds, and bees of Virgil, and now Mr. John Sargeaunt has furnished us with a delightful companion volume on Virgil's trees, shrubs, and plants. It must be admitted that in tackling the matter of Virgilian botany Mr. Sargeaunt has the more difficult task. Plant identification is not rendered easier by the lapse of two thousand years. John Martyn, Professor of Botany at Cambridge, was probably the earliest writer to attempt any scientific treatment of the Virgilian flora. He published, in 1741, an edition of the "Georgics," followed, in 1749, by the "Eclogues." In more recent times the "Flora Italiana" of Dr. Giovanni Arcangeli (Turin, 1896), is useful in its records of the present geographical range of Virgil's plants.

At the outset the serious student of the Virgilian flora is faced with the difficulty that the ordinary lexicons err at times not only in the identification of the plants, but also in the names of their parts. Thus the lexicon says that both palmes and pampinus mean a vine-tendril. Actually, the palmites were the rods left on the vines after pruning, while the shoots which sprang from the eyes (gemmae or oculi) were pampini. Again phaselus ("Georgics" I., 227) is universally translated as kidney bean. It is true that modern botanists have dubbed that plant phaseolus vulgaris, but, as it appears to have been introduced from America in the time of Elizabeth, it cannot possibly have been known to Virgil. His bean is dolichus melanophthalmos, an Asiatic, still common in Italian eating-houses under the name of fagiolo dall'occhio, the eye bean. A worse example is colocasium ("Eclogues" IV., 20), which appears as "Egyptian bean" even in really careful translations. Actually it is a caladium—the Indian taro—of which the esculent roots were imported to Rome. Dioscorides recommends boiling to make them less sharp to the palate.

The question of colour presents great difficulties to the Virgilian student. It would seem as if the colour sense, especially in reds and blues, developed late in man's history. The yellows are fairly clear. Thus the yoke of an egg is always luteum. Flavus is used of fields of corn and auburn hair, while fulvus is golden-yellow. In blacks and whites Virgil makes little difference between candidus and albus and ater and niger. A black flower may be no darker than violet, and in some contexts white means little more than not-black, and black not-white. But purpureus and ferrugineus are worst of all. As applied to flowers, the former seems to mean no more than bright. Ferrugineus must have signified originally the colour of iron. Rust does connote some darkness, and Virgil uses it of Tyrian purple.

With painstaking diligence Mr. Sargeaunt has taken every plant mentioned in Virgil separately, and given its history and description, and, if possible, reference to authorities like Theophrastus and Pliny. One of the longest and most delightful disquisitions is on rosa, where he shows that Virgil was acquainted with at least three exotic and several active species of the rose. Truly this is a book which cannot but add to the enjoyment of every Virgilian student.

MORE CELEBRITIES

Mr. E. T. Raymond repeats the success of "Uncensored Celebrities" in "All and Sundry." Like its predecessor, it is made up of sketches of public personages. Mr. Raymond is not anecdotal like "T.P." He is concerned with character and the springs of action, and with the qualities and defects of the men whom he lays on his dissecting table. The use of this figure suggests a process which, though it has its uses, is distinctly disagreeable. But Mr. Raymond is not in pursuit of morbid phenomena, or out to prove that all men are liars and pitiful creatures, very much alike when they are cut open. He is fair, and he praises handsomely the good points of his subjects. Yet there is a leaning to severity, and if a man has weak points—and who is without them?—if there is a joint in his armour, Mr. Raymond's arrow will unerringly find it.

Mr. Raymond's style is witty, brilliant, and allusive. The quotations and allusions to characters in literature and in history which adorn his pages are such and so frequent as thoroughly to test the readers' competence. The brilliant sketch of President Wilson, for example, includes an allusion to "Prospero," to "the sacred Labarum of the legality and the brotherhood of mankind," to "the armed Apollyon of Berlin," to "that long Odyssey of argument," to "the Italian eclectic school of painting," to "Jekyll and Hyde," to Mr. Roosevelt, who had "hosts of friends who felt for him as Bardolph for Falstaff," and to Louis XI., who "was hardly narrower than his circle of confidants." We wonder how many of our readers could secure pass marks in an examination on these allusions, explaining and annotating the proper names. Those who enjoy such exercises will find plenty more of a similar sort in Mr. Raymond's pages, and they will always find entertainment also, even if now and then an allusion is too recondite for their learning.

THE CAPITAL OF THE WORLD.

Alone among the great cities of the world London is marked out as the meeting-place of humanity—as the true capital city of the cosmopolitan. Paris is the soul of France, or—if that proud title be deemed too great for her—at least the intellect of France. Vienna is the creation of the proudest aristocracy in Europe, and reflects their pride. Berlin, to a great extent, is the city of the newly rich, and in its buildings expresses the want of taste of that class. All three are national cities, national capitals—in the narrowing sense of the term. But London differs in one respect from all three—she is a city set apart unto herself, in England, but not of England. Nor was she the creation of any particular class in society. She grew, as she seems to live, by the mighty force within her, and in the process all the ends of the earth have played their part.

One of the most singular of London's many singularities is the enormous civic pride of her people. A Londoner rarely thinks of England outside London: for him London is England. This delusion, it may be noted in passing, has on several occasions led politicians living and working in London to mistake the spirit of London for the spirit of England. It is precisely in this difference in spirit betwixt the nation and the capital city of the nation that the foreign, the cosmopolitan element in the latter comes into play. The simple truth is that London has come to be a nation within a nation, and the London "nation" is composed of all the races of mankind: hence the justness of its claim to be the capital of the world.

This aspect of London has hardly been dwelt on at all in the volume of "London Scenes," which lies before us as we write. We regret the fact all the more because Mr. Titterton has captured much of the elusive atmosphere of the great city in these slight, delicate sketches. But he has caught the spirit of London—that spirit of life at its keenest, full of power, whether it be felt amid the roar of the traffic surging up Ludgate Hill or murmuring amid the quiet of an old square in Bloomsbury of a summer evening. Many delicate pencil sketches by L. Witherow give an added charm to this attractive little book.

"London Scenes, 1914-1918." By W. R. Titterton. London: Melrose. 3/6 net.

RECENT FICTION.

We admire Mr. Mark Allerton's capable treatment of an old and hackneyed theme. The unsuitable marriage of a clever journalist with a flighty girl, the inevitable meeting with the right woman who possessed precisely those qualities which his wife lacks, and the dénouement to the satisfaction of all parties—these are the ingredients which many novelists have taken as the basis of a story. The proof of the pudding is in the eating, and the author's skilful handling is the outstanding feature of his latest book. A tale is never dull where the characters are intensely human, and Hugh Kelvin's pathetic struggle and his subsequent success must appeal to all as a convincing and faithful picture of every-day life. There is one redeeming characteristic in Queenie Kelvin's otherwise shallow nature—her ability to avoid worrying about any unpleasant situation, on the theory that things always come right if left alone.

"By Way of Bohemia." By Mark Allerton. Skeffington. 7/6 net.

The women who enter Maurice Kennedy's life are strong factors in the making of it. Maurice, in Mr. Horn's entertaining novel, begins an independent career as a Civil Servant, but his environment is Bohemia, thanks to a socialistic friend. His particular Bohemia is inhabited by clever women, with a purpose and a thirst for recreation. Maurice and Veronica enjoy talks and moonlight nights upon the river and restaurant meals, until the inevitable war-time. Thereupon Maurice makes a good soldier, and Veronica discovers that she has a heart. But why Evie should have been deprived of the letter written to her by a friend who was killed we have not been able to gather.

"Harlequinade." By Holloway Horn. Collins. 6/- net.

This story opens upon "the last sunset in the year 1829," and from the first pages the author gives evidence of her skill in reproducing conditions. The scenes are laid upon the Dorset coast when smuggling was rife; and the loneliness of Horatia Bydike, inherently fine and honest, whose lot is cast among a dour, uncongenial smuggling community, is convincingly portrayed. We can visualise the upheaval in the timid girl's life that the coming of John Clitheroe, from another world, means. Moreover, the stranger is beset by enemies and under her protection, so that her generous nature responds to the claim. This is a charming tale of adventure and mystery.

"The Preventive Man." By G. V. M'Fadden. Lane. 7/- net.

This is a collection of short stories. The scenes are laid in places as far apart as Paris, Switzerland, Italy, South-Eastern Russia, and Central Africa. Mr. Gibbon moves with easy and assured confidence amid them all. Besides his knowledge of very varying peoples and types, he possesses to admiration the art of working up the short tale to a swift and inevitable, though always unexpected, conclusion. Fate is his deus ex machina, who suddenly steps in and has the last word.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

DELAYS IN TRANSIT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—In 1918 the money realised by Ireland from the sale in British markets of eggs, poultry and feathers alone amounted to £18,448,888. This year the foreigner is slowly but surely ousting us. Why? There are several reasons, such as indifferent packing, the use of inferior cases, producers holding eggs over on rising markets, but the chief one is the delay in transit. The London market is virtually closed to us because the importers never can definitely tell when they may expect Irish eggs.

In Newcastle-on-Tyne alone 22,000 hhds. have arrived weekly from the Continent. These are only three or four days in transit, against six to fourteen days from Ireland. The Irish egg market of Manchester, another important centre, has also been seriously affected by excessive delays. Of 57 half-cases of eggs (342 hhds.), ex Limerick, via Holyhead, railed on March 6th, only 17 arrived on the 13th and 40 on the 15th. Another consignment from Clonmel, via Rosslare, railed on March 5th, was not received till the 13th. Yet another from the Midlands was over ten days in transit. Altogether the time taken for delivery at present is four or five times longer than that taken before the war. Doubtless, Irish farmers and shippers have become so wealthy that they can afford to see eighteen and a half millions sterling annually go by the board, but I confess that it grieves me.—Yours, etc.,

"A PATRIOTIC SPECTATOR."

A BAD IMPRESSION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—To-day, having discovered that a suit of clothes had become rather dilapidated in appearance after protracted tenancy of a suitcase, I took it to a Dublin tailor to have it pressed. Fortunately, I enquired the cost of this comparatively simple process before giving an order, and was informed that the removal of a couple of dozen creases would cost me half-a-guinea—roughly, sixpence per crease. Needless to say, my suit is still unpressed, and likely to remain so. Surely, even when one considers the high cost of labour, half-a-guinea for ten minutes' ironing is just a little bit extravagant? I suggest that unfortunates like myself, whose guineas are few, should resort, as I intend to resort, to the old-fashioned and trustworthy expedient of putting their trousers under the nether sheet of the bed. So long as people are foolish enough to make tailors presents of half-guineas they will "profiteer." After all, they are only human, but should not be encouraged.—Yours, etc.,

"TEN-AND-SIX."

MARRIAGE FINES.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Says Plutarch: "There was in Sparta a punishment for not marrying, for a late, and for a bad, marriage; and for the last penalty those were most especially liable who sought alliances with the rich instead of with the good." Will not somebody, in charity, remind Mr. Chamberlain of this?—Yours, etc.,

ELISA TOLER ROWLEY.

COMMERCIAL BANK OF LONDON, LIMITED.

ACTIVE PROGRESS AND NEW PREMISES.

INTERIM DIVIDEND FORECAST.

The statutory meeting of the Commercial Bank of London, Ltd., was held yesterday at Winchester House, Old Broad street, London, E.C.

The Right Hon. Sir Charles Hobhouse, P.C., the chairman of the company, presided.

The Secretary (Mr. W. Ernest Treweek) read the notice.

The Chairman said:—Gentlemen, although there is no business before this meeting, which has only been called for the purpose of complying with statutory requirements, I am glad to have this opportunity of meeting our shareholders, and giving you some indication of how our business is progressing. You have just heard the statutory report and statement of accounts read, and they call for no detailed comment from me.

THE OVERSUBSCRIPTION.

As you know, the response made to the offer of our new shares was most gratifying. The whole issue was very quickly oversubscribed, and with each succeeding post bringing in heavier and heavier batches of applicants, we were obliged to close the lists several days before the advertised date. As to the business of the bank, I am glad to be able to state that the results of our new issue of capital has more than justified the optimistic views which I put before our old shareholders when I addressed them on December 12 last. (Applause.) We are still adhering to our policy of keeping our resources as liquid as possible. As I anticipated would be the case, the general business of the bank has made great strides, and, indeed, has expanded to such an extent that it has far outstripped the capacity of our present premises, and necessitated a removal to new ones.

THE NEW BUILDING.

After meeting with considerable difficulty in our search for the ideal site, we have successfully concluded negotiations for the acquisition of an important block of new buildings, occupying a commanding position in Gracechurch street. (Hear, hear.) We are there getting up banking premises which will be worthy of this company, and we hope to enter into occupation about the beginning of July next. This should mark a further development in the history of the bank. Such part of the building as we do not immediately require has been let to tenants of high standing on most satisfactory terms, and we have now completed negotiations which will make the acquisition of this building a most remunerative transaction for the bank, quite apart from its other obvious advantages. (Applause.)

On the financial side I have to report satisfactory business during the comparatively brief period of three months since the incorporation of the new company, which will result in substantial profits being earned. Our first large transaction was the issue of 800,000 new shares for British Glass Industries, Ltd., at £3 10s. per share, involving £2,800,000. We had no difficulty in underwriting this large sum—indeed, we could have done it twice over—a testimonial not only to the investment itself, but also, I may fairly claim, to the issuing house. (Hear, hear.) Another transaction recently handled successfully by us was the issue of the Kent Portland Cement Co., Ltd. As a result of these successes, and of those which we had previously achieved, we have, as you can readily imagine, a very large amount of business offered to us, and we are in the fortunate position of being able to pick and choose. Negotiations are in an advanced stage for dealing with several important commercial undertakings. You will gather from what I have said that we are proceeding by mingled enterprise and caution with the programme of the bank, and devoting our energies and resources to supporting British trade and industry. (Agreed.)

THE MANAGING DIRECTOR.

We are glad to welcome back to-day Mr. Clarence Hatry, our managing director, who has recently undergone a serious operation. (Applause.) While we hope and believe him to be completely cured, he will have to take a further brief holiday before returning to full activity. During his absence the business of the bank has been continued and expanded—a fact which will confirm the assurance I gave to the shareholders in my last speech, that, valuable as Mr. Hatry's services are to the company, it is by no means what is termed a "one man show." Moreover, we have added to the number and strength of your Board by electing Mr. Stanley Passmore, of the firm of Langton and Passmore, as one of the directors. On Mr. Hatry's return to business he will find even greater scope for his energy and talents in the interests of the company and in the development of its business than heretofore.

THREE MONTHS' ACHIEVEMENTS.

I can briefly summarise the results of our three months' work as follows:—Firstly, on the financial side we have made substantial profits, and we have equally good business now well in hand. Secondly, the purely banking business is expanding in volume and profits. Our cash position is strong, and we have ample liquid resources to enable us to handle any good new business, however large, which we may decide to entertain. (Applause.) Thirdly, we have secured on most favourable terms magnificent premises, which are an absolute necessity for a business that is expanding as rapidly as ours is. I think this is a good record for three months' work—(applause)—and one with which shareholders have every reason to be satisfied; and the directors have every reason to anticipate that they will be in a position to declare an interim dividend at the end of June this year which will be satisfactory to all of you. I have nothing more to tell you, gentlemen, and, as there are no resolutions before us, this concludes the business of the meeting.

Mr. R. S. Griffiths said that he thought that all present had heard with great interest and decided satisfaction of the work which had been done during the past three months and the hopes that were held out. He was sure that they all felt that these hopes would be realised before very long, and he had very much pleasure in proposing a vote of thanks to the Chairman.

Mr. J. H. Cordner James seconded the motion, which was passed unanimously, and, the Chairman having acknowledged the compliment, the proceedings terminated.

COMING PROSPECTUSES.

PEEK FREAN AND CO., LTD.—Next Monday the prospectus will be published of an offer of 500,000 8 per cent. Cum. "A" Pref. shares of £1 each at par by Messrs. Peek Frean and Co., Ltd., the well-known biscuit manufacturers. The business of this company has steadily increased since its foundation, in 1866, and its products have for many years enjoyed a world-wide reputation. The present issue is made in order to provide further working capital for the increasing needs of the company. The auditor's certificate shows that for seven years, to 31st December, 1919, the average annual net profits, after payment of the interest on the Deb. Stock, were £122,772, which are sufficient, after payment of the dividend on the 1st Pref. shares, to pay the dividend on the present offer two-and-a-half times over without considering the profits to be earned by the proceeds of the present issue. The profits for the year ended 31st December, 1919, were £179,704. The net assets forming security for the £500,000 8 per cent. "A" Pref. capital, without taking any account of the valuable goodwill attached to the company's business, is £1,109,659.

NEWFOUNDLAND FISH PRODUCTS, LTD.—An issue of 187,700 8 per cent. Cum. Part. Pref. shares of £1 each, and the same number of Ord. shares of 1/- each, will shortly be made by Newfoundland Fish Products, Ltd. This company is formed to acquire the entire issued capital of the Newfoundland Atlantic Fisheries, Ltd., registered under the laws of the Dominion of Newfoundland, which entitles it to the benefit of a grant by the Government of Newfoundland of one-half per cent. per pound on certain fresh and frozen fish exported from its cold storage premises during ten years, from 1917. The profits of each year remaining available for dividend after payment of the fixed preferential dividend of 8 per cent. are to be applied first in the distribution amongst the Ord. shareholders of a sum equal to the amount of the fixed preferential dividend which shall have been paid for such year, and the balance will be distributed as to one-half amongst the Pref. shareholders, and as to the other half amongst the Ord. shareholders. The Board in the United Kingdom is comprised of experts in the trade, and Messrs. Harry Duff Reid and Robert Gillespie Reid, President and Vice-President, respectively, of the Reid Newfoundland Co., will act as Advisory Committee in Newfoundland. The Hon. W. F. Coaker, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, Newfoundland, assures the company of his Government's support for the undertaking.

THE TRAINING OF WOMEN.

LETTER FROM LADY FINGALL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The Central Committee on Women's Employment for Leinster, Munster, and Connaught have learned that a Committee has been empowered to draft schemes for the training of women whose studies have been interrupted through the war, and that large sums out of the Queen's Fund, as well as the National Relief Fund, have been placed at their disposal for this purpose. It is understood also that two representatives for Ireland have been appointed on this Committee.

Our Committee desire to express their surprise at such an announcement, having regard to the fact that they were neither collectively nor individually consulted with regard to the Irish representation of this scheme, although they were the Committee appointed by the Cabinet to deal with unemployment during the war, to act in an advisory capacity, and to devise schemes for training, etc. This they did successfully during the whole period of the war. The extent and importance of their work may be realised from the fact that their total turnover amounted to £119,200, while they were in a position to give employment to from 150 to 200 women weekly. The activities carried on by the Central Committee covered Army shirt-making, the making of machine-knitted gloves and other articles for the Army; while they organised domestic economy training classes for the W.A.A.C., etc.

The affairs of the Committee being so extensive, they have not been completely wound up, and, in view of the character of their work and its pronounced success, it seems to them very extraordinary that appointments should have been made to continue what is virtually the same work in Ireland, entirely ignoring the existence of this already established Irish Committee, which has admittedly done excellent constructive work during the past five years.—Yours, etc.,

E. FINGALL,
President, Central Committee on Women's Employment for Leinster, Munster, and Connaught.

BILLIARDS.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

NEWMAN v. REECE.

The first heat of the championship was continued at Burroughes' Hall, London, yesterday afternoon, when Reece followed up his overnight improvement by again outpointing Newman by 833 to 703, the averages being 41 and 37 respectively. At the interval, however, Newman still possessed a fine lead. For the first hour and a half play was very even. Reece opened by making his incomplete 41 into 74, and he followed it up with 51. Newman, with smaller runs, kept pace, and when Reece made a break of 131 Newman replied with 126, and to a further break of 181 by Newman Reece responded with 68 and 106. Towards the end, however, Reece made a grand break of 334 before Newman reached his points with 99 (unfinished). Interval scores:—

Newman (in play)	4,667
Reece	3,208

Closing scores:—Newman, 5,307; Reece (in play), 3,881.

BOXING.

WELLS v. McGOORTY.

BOMBARDIER WINS IN SIXTEENTH ROUND.

The 20 rounds contest between Bombardier Wells and Eddie McGoorty at the Holborn Stadium last night aroused keen interest. In view of both boxers' forthcoming engagments much depended upon the result. McGoorty possesses great pace, cleverness, and ringcraft, in which he concedes nothing to Wells, but the difference of five inches in height, and about a stone and half in weight, was a very serious handicap for the American.

A small man by comparison with his tall, perfectly-proportioned rival, Wells at once landed his left on the chin, but the American closed, and twice in the opening round he landed his right to the head, but there was not much power behind the blows. The second round was not more eventful, and at the end of the third Wells was in front on points. McGoorty covered up well, but he held a good deal, for which he was admonished by the referee, who had frequently to part the men. In the fifth round McGoorty had a bad time as the result of a stinging left to the body and two heavy leads to the side of the head, and in the next he was roughly handled again without being able to make any effective response.

WELLS'S LUCKY SURVIVAL.

So the fight proceeded until the eighth round, when Wells should have won. He had his man weak and at his mercy, but he was content to let him recover from a perilous position, with the result that in the twelfth round Wells himself went very near being beaten. The American landed telling lefts and rights on his rival's jaw, and Wells was groggy and staggering about the ring; but McGoorty, though right on the top for the first time, was unable to follow up his advantage. It was a lucky escape for Wells. However, afterwards he fought his man with greater determination. In the fourteenth round McGoorty went down under a smashing blow to the body, and subsequently he was weak and beaten, and in the sixteenth round Wells, feinting with the left, drove the right home to the point, and McGoorty, going down, was counted out.

Albert Francis had much the better of his bout with Tom Nicholson, and the referee stopped the bout in the tenth round.

LAWN TENNIS.

ENGLISH COVERED COURTS CHAMPIONSHIPS.

This meeting was begun yesterday at the Queen's Club, London, when several matches were played in the men's singles. A young French player, De Luze, put up a good fight against M. Mavrogordato, and hit very hard, but was beaten by three sets to one.

FOOTBALL.

RUGBY.

WANDERERS v. CIVIL SERVICE.

These teams met in a friendly match at Lansdowne road yesterday afternoon. Neither club was strongly represented, and after Civil Service had slightly the better of the first half, Molloy scored a try for Wanderers just on half-time, and Hamilton converted. No further scoring was done until the last minute of the match, when Blewitt ran in for another try for Wanderers, and W. H. Lowe converted. Result:—Wanderers, 2 goals (10 points); Civil Service, nil.

THE TONIC WINE NOW RECOMMENDED BY THE WHOLE MEDICAL PROFESSION

Our portrait is of Mrs. Denham, of 29 Brynhyfrydd, Penydarren, Merthyr Tydfil, Wales, who writes:—

"I have suffered for six months with a terrible ulcerated wound in my knee about two inches in depth. I was attended by doctors, and had a nurse, but did not get well. The doctors thought I had a diseased bone, so I had an operation, having a piece taken away from my knee about the size of a five-shilling piece, but still did not improve. Hearing so much about 'Clarke's Blood Mixture,' I at last resolved to give it a trial, and after a few days the improvement in my knee was great. The first bottle eased my pain, and by the time I had taken a few bottles (three, I believe) my knee was completely cured."

Abscesses, Ulcers, Bad Legs, Glandular Swellings, Eczema, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Piles, Rheumatism, Gout, are all sure signs of clogging blood impurity, calling for immediate treatment through the blood (outward application is of little use). For cleansing the blood of the impurities you cannot do better than take Clarke's Blood Mixture. Pleasant to the taste, and free from anything injurious. Ask for and see that you get

FINANCIAL NEWS

DUBLIN STOCK EXCHANGE.

BUSINESS AND TENDENCY STILL SHRINKING, BUT GREAT NORTHERN RAILS AND PARENT TYRE DEF. BETTER.

There was a further shrinkage in the volume of dealing on 'Change yesterday, with still a preponderance of selling orders and comparatively little fresh support, even at rather lower quotations. Irish Land Stock rallied, but other Funds again eased. Kingstown Urban District Stock gave way, and National Banks declined further. Breweries, etc., were steady to firm. Marconis were again lower. Among Rails, Great Northern rallied a point, but "Cashel" Debs. were adversely affected. Dublin Tram securities gave way all round. Dunlop Rubber Ord. were weak, but Parent Tyre Def. hardened a little further. McBirney Shares rose to par. Textiles were all weaker on profit-taking sale pressure. Imperial Tobacco Shares were steadily pressed for sale, especially the "Letters," in connection with the recent new issue. Oils were rather undecided, with Shells lower.

Home Funds were weaker generally. Consols and War Loan 5 p.c. fell ⅛, and Guaranteed Land Stock ⅛, but Irish Land 3 p.c. recovered ⅛ to 49¾. Kingstown Urban District 3½ p.c. fell 3 to 57.

Dealing in Banks was limited to Nationals, which gave way ⅛ to 18.

In Breweries and Distilleries, Dublin Distillers' Ord. rose 6d. to 55s. 6d., and Guinness Ord. were maintained at 35¼ for an odd lot.

In Marconis the Ord. fell 1s. further to 73s., but few shares changed hands.

Among Home Rails Great Northern rose 1 to 69, but Great Southern and Western Debs. fell 1 to 66. Others mentioned were unaltered.

In Trams Dublin United issues were all more or less on offer. The Ord. fell ⅛ further to 7¾, the Pref. ½ to 9, and the 3½ p.c. "B" Debs. 4 to 65.

As regards Dunlop issues, Dunlop Rubber Ord. fell another ⅛ to 10⅛, and Parent Tyre Pref 1⅛d. to 14s., but the Deferred closed 6d. higher at 61s., and the Ord. were unaltered at 22s. 3d.

In Bakery shares Bolands fell 3d. to 48s. 6d., and in Drapery shares McBirney Ord. rose 5s. 3d. to 5 x.d. Arnott Pref. were ineffectually offered at 3½.

Among Manufacturing shares Textiles were in a drooping mood on realisations. Calicos fell 9d. to 43s. 6d., Coats 1s. 3d. to 65s., and Spinners 6s. 3d. to 5⅛. Millar and Beatty Pref., last quoted 3¼, were sold at 57s. 6d. White Tomkins show no rally at 23s.

With reference to Trading, etc., shares Burke Ord. repeated 80s. 7½d., and Alex. Thom Ord. 12s. 6d.

Among other business done Imperial Tobacco fell 6d. to 49s. 6d., and the New a further 1s. 9d. to 7s. 9d., 7s. 6d., 7s. Shells gave way ⅛ to 10⅛. Mexican Eagle repeated 10⅛. Anglo-American Oil quoted 6⅛, and Scottish American Oil rose 3d. to 35s. 9d.

(Last business done given in parentheses.)

Mr. W. Moffat Wilson, Government Stockbroker and Notary Public, of Yorkshire Chambers, 3 College Green, Dublin, has taken into partnership his son, Mr. Guy B. Wilson, who is a member of the Dublin Stock Exchange. The business will be carried on in future under the style Moffat Wilson and Son.

LIFELESS STOCKS.

PRICES LITTLE CHANGED.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

The Stock markets passed a very uninteresting day. The opening was dull, but towards the close a better tendency was in evidence, with the result that prices of the leading investment securities were without material change on balance. On Tuesday members returned to town after the holidays full of hope of a revival of market interest, but, unfortunately, they were sadly disappointed. They soon realised that inactivity would probably be the order during the remainder of the week, and not a few have forsaken the City again, preferring the country, despite adverse weather conditions, to the present dismal surroundings of Throgmorton street. Markets, however, are not bad, and very little buying would have the effect of raising prices substantially. Still, buyers kept aloof, pending a clearer outlook. The political position on the Continent causes much anxiety, while the chaotic state of the foreign exchanges is a depressing influence. That France intends to grapple with the exchange position may be gathered from the increase made on Wednesday in the French bank rate, the first change made since August, 1914, and follows a similar movement in the Italian rate about a week ago. While the French exchange yesterday was a little easier, that on Italy was very erratic and higher, which seems to indicate that very strong measures and careful handling are necessary before the exchanges become anywhere normal. As a matter of fact, in Lombard street betting on the French exchange favours a still higher level in the near future. Small wonder, therefore, that Stock Exchange dealers are disinclined to take any of the Stocks now being offered from the Continent on their books even at the present level of prices. Fresh weakness characterised the market for funds at the outset. Coming new Corporation issues was given as a reason for the fresh set-back, but later in the day, when it was discovered that very little Stock was being offered, there was recovery to about the previous levels, with Consols actually closing higher on balance. Argentine Rails continued to sag on a renewal of profit-taking sales, and the Brazilian issues were on the dull side. American securities remained very much the same as on the previous day, the dollar exchange showing little fresh variation. Foreign Bonds were again under the influence of the exchange position and further attempts at selling from the Continent. The French issues were marked down further, and Greek Bonds suffered a fresh set-back. From one end of the "House" to the other there was very little going on. Still, those in the position of having money which can be locked up for a period should realise that the present is the most favourable time to invest in high-class securities giving a high return on capital. The Bank rate was not changed yesterday, and in some quarters it is anticipated that the next move will be downward.

LONDON STOCKS DULL.

The Stock Exchange had another rather dismal session yesterday. Business continued on a small scale, both the public and professionals maintaining their reserve, and the weather was a depressing factor. The prospect of a continued rush of new issues by public authorities was also a rather unsettling factor, in view of the fact that underwriters are still so loaded up in many directions. Gilt-edged issues drooped during the first part of the session, but they were inclined to go better at the finish. Among gilt-edged securities net changes were mixed, but the closing tone was satisfactory. Colonial Loans ruled dull.

FOREIGN BONDS UNCERTAIN.—In the Foreign market business was on a restricted scale, and while the tone was rather more settled than on Wednesday, there was still a lack of underlying confidence. French Loans were lacking in firmness, despite the better tendency of the Paris exchange. The Fives were finally unchanged, and the Fours about held their ground. Russian Bonds were idle and nominal. Egyptian Loans were slow. There was some scattered selling of Argentine and Brazilian Bonds on Continental account, and as regards other South Americans, Peruvians Pref. fell a point to 28. Mexicans were dull.

Changes—Falls: Chinese Fives (1896), 2 to 78; do. 4½ p.c. 1 to 59; do. 5 p.c. (1898), 1 to 64; Japan New 5 p.c. 1 to 70; Peruvian Prefs., 1 to 28; Portuguese Threes, 2 to 32½.

HOME RAILS NEGLECTED.—Home Rails did not maintain the quiet hardening tendency of the last few sessions, and the market was suffering from neglect throughout, though there was little selling to digest. On balance price changes were few and mixed, and were merely the outcome of trifling adjustments. Undergrounds did not vary, and Scotch Stocks were uninteresting.

Changes—Rises: Chatham, ½ to 9½; Hull and Barnsley, 1 to 52. Falls:—Lancs. and Yorks., 1 to 61; Midland Def., ½ to 54; North Eastern Consol., ½ to 91.

CANADIANS STEADY, AND MEXICANS SLOW.—Canpacs held around 154, but as regards other Canadian Rails, Grand Trunks were flabby. Mexican Rails moved narrowly and aimlessly, and finished without net change. Several Argentine Rails encountered further moderate liquidation, and closed with net falls of ½ to 1. San Paulos, among Brazilians, gave way 1 to 175.

INDUSTRIALS STILL QUIET, WITH SOME BRIGHT SPOTS.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Conditions in the Miscellaneous and Industrial market were far from depressing. There were traces of a little more public interest. Business from the provinces, too, showed evidence of having returned in small proportions. But it was clear that the market was still out of sorts, and had failed to get into its proper stride. Specialities claimed most attention, though Textiles, as a section, looked generally better at one time. Courtaulds and Dunlops were dull, particularly the latter. Amalgamated Cottons opened well, and came in for some active bidding, though closing practically unchanged. Reference to the prospects of the shares was included in this column yesterday, together with the markets' view of the position. By the same token, Albert Bakers were also the subject of comment yesterday, and a further slight improvement was recorded in the shares. It has been pointed out that, in addition to the details given, the company is now reported to be working smoothly with the Imperial Tobacco Company, whereas in the past the situation has not always been good. This is certainly a point to be borne in mind, though at present the matter would appear to end there. Oilcakes again claimed a great deal of attention yesterday. The shares were bid up rapidly after a strong opening, but changed hands well below best after hours. An announcement with regard to the proposed fusion with the African and Eastern Trade Corporation will be found in another column. In the Iron and Steel section Vickers kept steady. Hickmans were bid up appreciably, though closing below best. Northumberland Shipbuilding Ordinary eased off. Dealings in the new shares were commenced at the same price as the old. Among motors, Austin "B" Pref. showed improvement, and in the Miscellaneous list, Wallpaper Def. proved a speculative favourite, chiefly on provincial account. The shares registered an appreciable advance on balance, after changing hands freely during the session. Shipping Shares were again consigned to the background. Nitrates were featureless. Among Breweries and Hotels stagnation ruled.

The Iron and Steel section yesterday remained quiet and uninteresting. Vickers kept the price at 31s. Hickmans were bid for at 51s. at one time, but closed at 50s. 6d. Northumberland Shipbuilding Ord. were easier at 2s. 9d. The new shares were introduced to the "House" yesterday, and dealt in at the same price as the old. Sheffield Steel Products stiffened to 23s. B.S.A. were better at 28s., ex-div. Declines were noted in Armstrong Ord., which, at 33s., were 6d. lower, and the New Ordinary, which shew 6d., at 31s. Bolchow Vaughan lost 9d. at 27s. 6d. ex div. Ebbw Vales, at 33s. 3d., were the turn lower. Guest Keens declined ⅛ to 2⅛. Among Coal Stocks, Wm. Cory were down ⅛ at 3⅛. Dealers in the Textile section yesterday were to be pardoned for expressing a little disappointment at the final appearance of the lists. The market looked like going better, several issues opening well. Later an easier tendency developed, and beyond numerous unchanged markings, there were few evidences of the earlier cheerfulness. Amalgamated Cottons began the day at 2⅛, changing hands frequently. At the finish the shares were 2⅛. Calicos went better at one time, finally receding 1s. to 42s. 6d. Spinners scored an initial advance, which was converted into a net loss of ⅛ at 5⅛ by the close of the session. Courtaulds were down ⅛ at 8⅛. Bleachers kept the price at 54s., the Pref. putting on ⅛ at ⅞. Coats kept up to 2⅛, and Joshua Hoyle showed no change at 4⅛. John Wood, at 26s. 9d., were 6d. worse off by the close.

A still further decline was registered in Imperial Tobaccos, which at 47s. were 2s. down. The shares apparently come within the category of those securities which are sacrificed to provide money for other purposes. Elsewhere in the Miscellaneous list Dunlops were down another ⅛ at 10⅛. British Aluminium were quoted ex rights at 1⅛; British and Argentine Meat at 26s. 4½d. were 10½d. to the good. Oilcakes provided some exciting interludes, the price of the shares making steady headway on the proposed absorption. The shares yesterday changed hands freely up to 53s. 6d., at which the net rise was 4s. 9d., but later dealings tended downwards, the last quotation heard in the street being 52s. 9d. Among Motors, Austin B Pref. put on 1s. to 18s.; Rolls-Royce hardened to 2⅛; Vauxhalls were easier at 1⅛. Cements were fairly steady, closing practically unchanged, but British Portland eased to 35s. Pyrotan Leather at 16s. 3d. were ⅛ better. Welsbach Ord. also improved ⅛ to 1⅛. Scarcely any business was done in the Nitrate section. The Wireless group made up irregularly. Marconis shed ⅛ at 3⅛, but Canadians were up 1s. at 13s. 6d. Spanish at 11s. 3d. were also the turn better.

UNINTERESTING MINES.

BUSINESS STILL RESTRICTED AND PRICES MOSTLY LOWER.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Markets were described as "silly" yesterday, which means that there was no improvement upon the conditions ruling on the preceding day. Idleness ruled for the most part in the Mining department, and, as regards Kaffirs, what little business was in progress tended to reduce values. As on Wednesday, a slightly harder tendency developed just before the close, assisted probably by a trifling improvement in the French rate of exchange and the maintenance of the price of gold at £5 3s. 2d. per ounce, but even so the changes recorded were, with one exception, against holders. The satisfactory nature of the gold returns for March so far to hand aroused not the slightest interest, and failed to prevent shrinkages in Van Ryn Deep, Randfontein, and several others. The only bright spot in the Rhodesian department was Chartered, the shares moving up sharply on a modest demand. Globes were dull on the rather dismal character of the latest development report, and Lonely, Gaika, and Rhodesia Broken Hill were also on the down grade. Diamonds were distinctly better on the more cheerful Paris advices, and the De Beers issues, Premier Def., and Jagersfontein all moved up, the last-named being helped by the news of the termination of the strike. Another cut was made in the price of tin, which fell £5 17s. 6d. to £335 5s. per ton, and this naturally did not tend to increase the cheerfulness of the share market. Dealings were on a very small scale, and, apart from Siamese, which improved on the publication of the dividend announcement, movements on the day were downward. A couple of West African Gold Shares receded, but in the Australian section some of the Barriers were being picked up, possibly in anticipation of a settlement of the labour troubles on the field. Among Coppers, Arizona Copper recovered on the news regarding the progress of negotiations for the sale of the undertaking to the American Copper Combine. Elsewhere Burmas and Bawdwin marked recoveries, and Esperanza were a harder market.

RUBBER SHARE MARKET REVIEW.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

The intervening holidays monopolised the greater part of the past week, and beyond the recovery in prices which occurred immediately before Easter there is nothing of special interest to report. In the present state of most things financial realisations are bound to occur, and the Rubber share market now embraces such a very wide circle that some forced sales have been in evidence. Sales of several large parcels of Stock have brought in their wake a quantity of small selling orders. The former have been readily absorbed, but the latter merely acted as an irritant to the market, bringing about crumbling prices in the absence of investment demand. Moderate buying, however, was sufficient to indicate the artificial nature of the prices quoted, with the result that many quotations have risen to levels much the same as those ruling before the slump. Anglo-Dutch, after touching 50s., recovered to 53s. 9d., subsequently reacting to 52s. 6d. Brieh fell to 3s. sellers, finishing 3s. 3d. bid. Batu Tiga show a rise of ⅛ at 3⅛. Tremelbye and Federated Selangor are quoted in their new form around 1⅛. Rubber Trust fell to 38s. 6d., recovering later to 41s. 3d. Dealings have commenced in Batang Consolidated (1s. paid shares) on the basis of 1s. to 1s. 3d. The Borneo section has come in for attention during the last few days. Sablas are 2s. 6d. higher at 30s. bid, and Membakut are 1s. 3d. up at 30s.

BUSINESS IN OILS OF A QUIET CHARACTER.

SHELLS EASIER, BUT EAGLES AND BURMAHS STEADY.

(FROM THE FINANCIAL NEWS OF TO-DAY.)

Conditions in the Oil share market yesterday remained much the same as on Wednesday. Business was on a small scale all round, public interest in the market at the moment being almost negligible, while the big operators evince little disposition to increase commitments. Consequently, prices are left pretty much to find their own levels, and pending the Budget there would seem little likelihood of a revival of activity. Taken as a whole, however, the market kept fairly steady, prices showing little alteration on balance. The leaders kept within narrow limits, and while Shells further declined, Royal Dutch made some recovery, and Burmahs and Mexican Eagle Common finished steady at the overnight levels. The firmness of Eagles was attributable to Amsterdam buying, the shares having recently been introduced to the Bourse in that centre. Scottish Americans came into prominence, spurting sharply on some good buying, and although the best prices were not held they finished well above Wednesday's level. Tankers Prefs., however, developed an easier tendency. Anglo-Egyptian "B" weakened, but Gemsah Oil Reefs continued in request, and further advanced. Business in Trinidad issues was not of much importance, the only quotable alteration being a decline in Centrals. Oil Trusts and Havana Oils slipped back, although it is understood that there has recently been American buying of the shares, which is attributed in the market to negotiations in connection with important asphalte contracts in Cuba. Russian issues were neglected, and nothing of special interest presented itself elsewhere in the market. Closing prices:—

THE MONEY MARKET.

Bank Rate (changed Nov. 6th).............. 6 p.c.

There was no alteration in the Bank rate yesterday morning. The Money market remained amply supplied with funds, the Bank return showing a rise of 32¾ millions in market balances. Displacements yesterday in calls and dividend payments were not heavy, only totaling about half a million. Call money was quoted at 4 p.c. at first, but the rate for new money was soon back to 3 p.c., and the closing rate for balances was 2 p.c. Weekly fixtures were quoted at 4¼ to 4½ p.c. Bill business remained on a restricted scale, though the demand showed signs of improving, and was rather in excess of the supply of fine paper. Two months' drafts were posted at 4⅞ p.c., three months' at 5⅛ p.c., and six months' at 5⅞ p.c.

DIVIDENDS AND REPORTS.

ASSOCIATION FOR THE HOUSING OF THE VERY POOR.—The gross receipts from rents, etc. (including John street property) amounted to £1,405 18/9, the outgoings, including rents payable, insurances, taxes, caretakers' wages, printing, Board of Works and Debenture interest, etc., amounted to £1,334 1/4, leaving a net profit for the year of £72 17/5, to which has to be added the balance carried forward from last account £260 18/6), making a total of £333 15/11, which the directors recommend should be applied as follows:—Place to credit of loan redemption fund, to provide for repayment to Board of Works, £100; balance to next year's account, £233 15/11. The directors regret that the net balance of the revenue account is not sufficient to allow of the usual dividend being paid this year, and this is attributable to the enormously increased taxation for the year, which showed an increase of over £100 over the previous year. In addition, the cost of labour, repairs, and general upkeep of the property has been excessive. The rents from the dwellings have been well maintained. Since the formation of the company no increase has been made, but the Board have now decided, in view of the statements set out in the foregoing paragraph, and also the fact that the labouring classes are earning much more wages, that an increase in the rents is justifiable, and, accordingly, the Board propose adding about 10 per cent. to the present rents. The property has been well maintained during the year. Two of the directors (Sir John R. O'Connell, LL.D., J.P., and Sir Joseph Downes, J.P., T.C.) retire by rotation and are eligible for re-election. The auditors, Messrs. Craig, Gardner and Co., also retire, but offer themselves for re-election.

GULA KALUMPONG RUBBER.—Final dividend in respect of the year ending 31st December last at the rate of 3/- per share, less tax.

DWYER AND CO.—Further dividend on Ord. at 5 per cent., making 10 per cent., free of tax, for the year, and a bonus of 2½ per cent.

BRITISH AND ARGENTINE MEAT.—Final dividend of 5 per cent. on the Ord., making 10 per cent. for the year, and a bonus of 2½ per cent.

BRITISH BANK OF SOUTH AMERICA.—Final distribution for the year 1919 of 14/- per share, and a bonus of 6/- per share.

GAS LIGHTING IMPROVEMENT.—Further improvement of 12½ per cent. on the Ord., making 15 per cent. for the year.

NORTHERN ASSURANCE.—The report for 1919, which will be issued during the month, again shows profits from trading and interest of over £1,000,000 and it is expected that an increased final dividend for the year 1919 will be recommended to the shareholders.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS

The Board of the Munster and Leinster Bank, Ltd., has co-opted Mr. Alfred R. MacMullen, a director of the bank, in room of the late Mr. Somers Payne.

A strong rumour was current on the Manchester Royal Exchange yesterday that J. Hetherington and Sons, Ltd., textile machinists, had received an offer of £45 for each £5 Ordinary Share. On the strength of this, the shares were actively bought on the Manchester Stock Exchange, and rose to £34-£35.

The London Joint City and Midland Bank, Ltd., announce the opening of a new branch at 30a and 31 St. Paul's Churchyard, London, E.C. 4, under the management of Mr. G. J. Allbright.

It is announced that the name of the London County and Westminster Bank (Paris), Limited, has been changed to "The London County, Westminster and Parr's Foreign Bank, Limited." In all other respects, the arrangements remain as before.

In view of the continued increase of the business of the British General Insurance Company, and to provide for further developments now in hand, the directors have decided to issue 250,000 shares at par, part of the shares newly created, to holders registered on 24th March last. There is at present no intention of making a further call beyond the 5/- now payable on application and allotment.

A General Court of the Proprietors of Bank Stock of the Bank of Ireland will be held at the Bank on Monday, 12th inst., to elect a Governor and Deputy Governor for the ensuing year. On Wednesday, 14th inst., another Court of Proprietors will be held to elect thirteen directors for the coming year.

MARKET REPORTS.

CATTLE—DUBLIN METROPOLITAN, North Circular road, Thursday.—The holiday interruption no doubt further exercised a certain curb on supplies of stock to-day, which just worked out on a seasonable basis, but at the same time they proved on the heavier side of requirements. Sheep were 361 head less than last week, notwithstanding there was a considerable number of re-entries of the overplus of last week's market. The attendance of North of Ireland, also local butchers and dealers, was large, but shippers were not in the usual strong force. Trade throughout denoted an extremely cautious trend and values showed some irregularity, especially towards the middle stages and close of the market, when cattle were perhaps 2/- to 3/- and perhaps 4/- per cwt. harder to cash than at the opening. Sheep too were slumpy throughout, and there might be about 2/- to 3/- per head down. Young lambs more plentiful, and were not so well sold as last day. Veal calves can only be nominally quoted.

	Number on sale this week as compared with last.		Corresponding weeks of 1919.	1918.
Beasts	2,577	increase 367	2,571	2,405
Sheep	5,075	decrease 361	5,432	3,982
Veal Calves	2	decrease 1	2	—

The beast market opened tolerably strong, but cautious. For the finished plums of the show good prices were here and there had, but in the average run last week's money was hard enough to repeat; however, as long as home trade demand was sustained and under pressure of North of Ireland opposition, terms were fairly well supported to a point, but after this, owners were obliged to come down more to shippers' terms in order to make any appreciable progress in business, and this meant a drop of from 2/- to 3/- per cwt. on opening rates. For the rougher descriptions of stock, which were in excess of requirements, up to 4/- and 5/- depression might be recorded, and eventually there was a rather biggish proportional carry over. Choice bullocks drew from 94/- to 96/- per cwt., and superquality 97/- and 98/-, but for a few fancy lots here and there up to 100/- was bid to weigh, and even 103/- realised in a hand sale. Best quality heifers were from 92/6 to 95/- and 98/- per cwt. Good medium cattle from 86/- to 92/6 per cwt., and coarser sorts from 74/- to 75/- and up to 85/- per cwt., according to character. Fat bulls and cows of best quality more than recovered recent neutralised position, and for choice lots of young beef cows up to 90/- and 96/- was paid, whilst useful sorts of meated cows went from 76/- to 87/6; rougher sorts in proportion. For the pick of fat bulls up to 98/-, 102/-, 104/-, and 105/- per cwt. was paid. The more ordinary classes averaged 86/- to 96/-, and coarser descriptions 83/- to 84/- per cwt. Choice young beef cows went from 88/- to 94/- and 96/-; good useful lots from 76/- to 86/-, and others from 47/6 to 75/- per cwt. The sheep trade was of a very cautious and somewhat irregular character throughout. Even for prime aged mutton it was difficult to secure a full repetition of last Thursday's money, whilst other classes were slumpy and more or less favoured buyers. Hoggets especially were tedious to negotiate, and the bulk of dealers' drafts proved a little attraction to buyers at reserves required, regardless of the poor condition generally. For choice aged mutton values averaged 1/10 to 1/11 per lb., and for fancy types such as Cheviots, etc., up to 2/- and 2/1. Secondary qualities, 1/7 to 1/9, and inferior, say, 1/4 per lb. to 1/6, subject to the usual allowances. Young lambs were more numerous on market, but not such a good trade. Early selections made from 70/- to 85/- and 95/- occasionally for large fancy sorts around 100/-. Subsequently prices ruled back to 60/- and 70/-, spring and closed even under these figures. The few veal calves were of no account, prices being nominal. There was a biggish proportional carry over of unsold sheep, mostly dealers' hoggets, some of which had already been on three consecutive markets.

DUBLIN STORE, North Circular road, Thursday.—The entries of store cattle for the several auction fixtures in this neighbourhood showed a palpable expansion, and catalogues featured many attractive lots of good and good-looking thrivers. There was a large following of dealers, graziers, and farmers in evidence, but the general trend of proceedings indicates a cautious disposition. With few exceptions values can scarcely be reported so good as recently, and coming to plain and young shorthorn stockers were decidedly downward.

DUBLIN DAIRY, North Circular road, Thursday.—There were 149 entries in this branch, and a very mixed and ordinary show of quality. The demand was rather keener for prime, heavy, fresh milch stockers, with a correspondingly firmer turn in prices, but doubtful and ordinary cows remain hard enough to make an exchange of ownership with at recent depressed range of values. Best average milchers, £38 to £48 10/-, and £55 each; others, anywhere from £22 to £36 each.

DUBLIN PIG, North Circular road, Thursday.—There were extraordinary high prices current last week, and expectations of matters perhaps going stronger to-day brought in a considerably increased supply of pigs, including many big drafts from dealers and jobbers. Altogether the market offered 2,194 exhibits. Trade opened with good support and competition, but weight of supply subsequently exercised a depressing and weakening influence on business proceedings, and the market closed about 10/- to 15/- per cwt. live-weight over the day worse. In most sales 20 to 24 stone here realised £9 15/- to £10 10/- per cwt. and for occasional fancy lots around £11 per cwt. In reckoning average live-weight scale, bacon, rates worked out as from 180/- to 182/- and 184/- per cwt., which dead-weight may be calculated to stand up to 230/- and over per cwt. Stores in very active request and dear. Dealers mostly found it difficult to sell their drafts to advantage on country terms.

GANLY, SONS, AND CO., Offices and Wool Stores, 18, 19, and 20 Usher's quay, Dublin, Thursday, April 8th, 1920.—Cattle Market Report—Quieter trade for all classes of cattle, with prices generally favouring buyers. Medium sorts difficult to clear at the reduced quotations. Best brought from 92/- to 97/- per cwt.; secondary and inferior, 80/- to 90/- per cwt. Not so much animation in demand for sheep, but quotations remain unchanged. Store Cattle Auctions held every Thursday, in our Paddocks, 63 Prussia street, commencing at 11 o'clock. Wednesday, 21st April—Our Final Auction of Wool will be held in the Saleroom, Usher's quay, Dublin, commencing at 1 o'clock. Telephone No. 216. Telegrams—"Ganly, Usher's quay, Dublin."—(Advt.)

GAVIN LOW, LTD., MARKET REPORT, 50 Prussia street, Dublin, 8th April, 1920.—Supplies—Cattle 2,577, increase 367; sheep 5,075, decrease 361. There was a good demand for well finished cattle suitable for home trade, but rough and inferior beasts were not so easily sold. Best sheep sold well, but through lack of demand for shipping, trade for other descriptions was not so good. Lambs were not in such keen request as last week. Quotations:—Best bullocks and heifers, from 90/- to 93/-, and up to 100/8 per cwt., live weight; others, from 80/- to 89/- per cwt., live weight; cows and bulls, from 40/- to 96/- per cwt., live weight; mutton, 1/9 to 2/2; lambs, 60/- to 100/-. Fixtures:—April 9th—At 2 p.m. Letting of the Lands of Windmill Hill Farm, Rathcoole, Co. Dublin, on the Lands, by instructions of P. J. Barry, Esq., M.D. Store Cattle Sale every Thursday.—(Advt.)

R. AND J. WILKINSON, Thursday, 8th April, 1920.—Cattle Market—Numbers:—Cattle, 2,577—increase, 367; sheep, 5,075—decrease, 361. Trade was again rather dull and lifeless. Really well-finished cattle were scarce, and top lots made up to £5 per cwt. in a few cases of exceptional merit; other cattle were even more difficult to sell than of late, and some lots remained unsold. Sheep trade was also quiet at about last week's prices. Best cattle, 93/- to 95/-; exceptional, £5; others, 70/- to 92/- per cwt.; mutton, 1/8 to 2/- per lb.—(Advt.)

LAURENCE CUFFE AND SONS' CIRCULAR, 5 Smithfield, Dublin, April 8, 1920.—We had more cattle, and when the local and Belfast trade were supplied matters took a very quiet turn, prices being 2/- to 3/- per cwt. lower, and some unsold, the cross-Channel grading price being considerably under our top rates here. Sheep also inclined in buyers' favour, by from 2/- to 3/- per head. Store cattle weighing badly, and making over 100/-. Fat cattle, 70/- to 99/- per cwt.; store cattle, 75/- to 105/- per cwt.; mutton, 1/6 to 2/1 per lb. N.B.—Store Cattle Sale every Thursday, 11.30 o'clock.—(Advt.)

SMITH, GRIFFIN AND CO., 56 and 57 Prussia street, Dublin, 8th April, 1920. We had an increase of over 300 cattle. Trade slow for best finished beasts at late rates, all other classes a quieter trade at prices favouring buyers. Sheep, 361 less. Best finished mutton up to 2/2 per lb; inferior classes of sheep a slow dragging trade, and prices easier. Quotations:—Beef, 75/- to 165/- per cwt., or 75/- to 95/-, and extra finish 96/- to 100/- per cwt. live weight. Mutton, 1/6 to 2/2 per lb.—(Advt.)

DUFFEY, MANGAN, AND BUTLER, Cattle Salesmen, 37 Smithfield, Dublin, Thursday, 8th April, 1920.—Market Report—Increase of 367 beasts and decrease of 361 sheep. Good cattle sold steadily at late rates; other classes, though slow to sell, were not materially cheaper. Best sheep made late rates; secondary and unfinished classes more difficult to sell and not cleared. Cattle (live weight), 60/- to 97/- per cwt.; mutton, 1/8 to 2/4 per lb.—(Advt.)

HANBURY AND POTTERTON, Smithfield House, Dublin, April 8th, 1920:—Numbers—Cattle 2,577, increase 367; sheep 5,075, decrease 361. Rather quiet trade for both cattle and sheep, but prices about the same as last day. Beef, for best, from 95/- to 100/- per cwt. live weight, and others from 75/- to 90/- per cwt.; mutton, 1/6 to 2/3 per lb.—(Advt.)

ARMSTRONG AND SMITH'S REPORT, 25 Prussia street, April 8th, 1920:—Beasts 2,577, increase, 367; sheep 5,075, decrease 361. Well-finished cattle suitable for the home trade met a good inquiry at the opening of the market, but later less money had to be accepted to effect sales. Slow trade for sheep at about late rates. Beef (best), 92/- to 96/-; extra to 100/- per cwt.; secondary and cows, 75/- to 85/- per cwt.; mutton, 1/9 to 2/2 per lb.—(Advt.)

P. O'CONNOR AND SON, Auctioneers, Valuers, Cattle, Sheep, and Wool Salesmen, 49 Queen street, Dublin. Telephone—538, Dublin.—Seasonable supplies of stock in both departments. Trade opened slow at late top rates for best qualities cattle, but as the day progressed supplies proved more than equal to demand, and sellers had to concede about 2/- per cwt. in order to clear. Bulls and fat cows in good request. Sheep a dear, but slow trade.—(Advt.)

ROBERT CRAIGIE'S REPORT, 37 Prussia street, Dublin, 8th April, 1920.—Supplies:—Cattle, 2,577—increase, 367; sheep, 5,075—decrease, 361. Although some short lots of cattle of exceptional merit realised last day's rates, trade on the whole was decidedly slower, and lower prices had to be accepted to effect a clearance. There was little alteration in prices of really nice sheep suitable for the home trade, but other classes were cheaper. Quotations:—Cattle, best, from 92/- to 100/- per cwt., live weight; secondary from 80/- to 91/-; cows from 60/- to 86/-; bulls, from 80/- to 104/-; sheep, from 19d. to 26d. per lb.; lambs, from 70/- to 85/- each. Telegrams—"Craigie, Dublin." Telephone 2553.—(Advt.)

BERGIN, O'CONNOR, AND CO., LTD., REPORT, Cattle Salesmen, 11 St. Joseph's road, Dublin, April 8, 1920.—Supplies:—Cattle 2,577, increase, 367; sheep 5,075, decrease, 361. Trade for cattle was slower this morning, owing principally to the high prices prevailing. Well finished lots, with some difficulty, reached last week's level; one special lot of exceptional quality exceeding it. Secondary and other sorts met a duller trade at reduced rates. For the best quality sheep prices were well maintained, but there was a slight decline in values for thin lots. Quotations:—Cattle, best, 94/- to 100/- per cwt., live weight; exceptional, 102/6 per cwt., live weight; secondary, 87/- to 93/- per cwt., live weight; cows, bulls, 75/- to 97/6 per cwt., live weight; mutton, 1/8 to 2/2 per lb. Telephone—No. 3860. Telegraphic Address—"Approve, Dublin."—(Advt.)

JOHN P. CUFFE, Auctioneer, Cattle, and Sheep Salesman, 73 Prussia street, Dublin, 8th April, 1920.—Cattle Market Report—A few more cattle on offer to-day. Trade opened slow, and even for the best last week's prices were hard to maintain; the medium and rough classes suffered a reduction of 2/- to 4/- per cwt., and a clearance not effected. Sixteen extra good bullocks from Mr. J. Dunne, Derrygarden, Maryborough, were sold to weigh at 99/- per cwt., and came to £61 1/- each—to Eastman's, Ltd. Sheep shown in slightly less numbers. Trade slow, and only for the best were late rates maintained. Best beef, 94/- to 98/-, and up to 99/- per cwt.; mutton, 2/- to 2/3 per lb. Telephone 4840. Telegrams—"Bullocks, Dublin."—(Advt.)

REPORT OF McKEOWN, MacKEOGH AND CO., Auctioneers, Valuators, Farm Produce Factors, Live Stock Salesmen, etc., 4 Haymarket, April 8:—Cattle—Trade opened with an active demand for choice beef. Secondary descriptions were weaker, and lower rates than previous market were generally accepted. Bulls and choice cow-beef improved. In the sheep department lambs sold well, and rated from 60/- to 100/-. Prime mutton sold well, but other sorts were decidedly weaker. Quotations:—Prime beef, live weight, 96/- to 102/- per cwt.; secondary qualities, 88/- to 94/- per cwt.; choice finished cows, 86/- to 96/- per cwt. Pigs—There was an exceptionally large supply when business opened. Last day's high rates were not maintained, and an average reduction of about 15/- per cwt. live weight took place. Buying on this basis was keen, and a good clearance was effected. Stores sold well. Heavy pigs, dead weight, 224/- to 232/- per cwt.; choice middle weights, do., 224/- to 230/- per cwt.; light bacon, do., 220/- to 223/-. 'Phone, Dublin 3. Telegraphic address—"Factors, Dublin."—(Advt.)

BIRMINGHAM, Thursday.—The demand for pigs keeps quiet, purchases being limited in view of the high price. Supplies are larger than was usual under control, and include fair entry of Irish pigs. Values unchanged at 42/- per score, dead-weight.

LONDON, Thursday.—There was a moderate entry of fat cattle of various grades, also sheep, at to-day's market, and some were disposed of at regulation prices.

Lever's Palm Nut Cake, £10; Palm Meal, £10 5/-, free on rails, Dublin, less 5/- ton for cash. Dairy Cake and Meal, Pig Meal, Undec. Cotton Cake. Agent—William Rourke, 36 North Circular road, 'Phone—3617. Buy from the manufacturer.—(Advt.)

GRAIN.—FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES.—BALTIC, Thursday.—WHEAT—Allocations comprised Australian ex store to Plymouth at 96/-, and Argentine afloat at 94/- per 480lbs. MAIZE cargoes dull, and largely nominal in absence of offerings; parcels easier; Plate April-May sold 71/6 to 70/9, May-June 69/6 to 68/9 per 480lbs. BARLEY dull; Californian new crop August-September quoted 87/-, September-October 85/- per 448lbs., Canadian feed June-July 68/6 per 400lbs. OATS steady; Argentine 42lbs. March-April sellers 56/-, April-May 54/- per 320lbs.

LIVERPOOL, Thursday.—C.i.f. parcels of wheat were not offered. Maize—Parcels opened steady for River Plate, but afterwards gave way considerably, owing to the Royal Commission's announcement of heavy supplies owned by them loading, loaded, or on passage; May-June shipment sold from 71/- to 70/- per qr., and 69/6 first half, at the finish, while 75/- was taken expected to load next week, and 71/6 done for April-May at one part of the day. WHEAT on the spot was steady, and a small quantity of spring wheat ex store was released at fixed price. MAIZE—Spot parcels scarce and steady at late rates. FLOUR was in fair request at recent currencies. Canadian feed BARLEY May-June quoted 70/- per qr. Yellow River Plate maize "futures" opened steady but inactive, and last night's price was afterwards realised for September delivery. Later on prices eased back, in sympathy with the decline in c.i.f. parcels, the market closing 1d. per cental lower on the day. Sales—5 loads at 15/2 for September delivery. Closing values—July 15/9, September 15/1 per cental.

MANCHESTER, Thursday.—Very little English wheat offering. Small allocations of foreign wheat, but millers hold fair stock. Indian corn about 6d. per cental higher on the week. Oats in slightly better inquiry. Little or nothing doing in barley.

PROVISIONS.—DUBLIN POTATO, Thursday.—Trade quiet and featureless. Prices for city follow North of Ireland lead. Choice Dates, etc., 11/6 to 12/-; Skerries, 12/6 per cwt.

LIVERPOOL, Thursday.—BACON—Values of speculative products are cabled easier from Chicago, and live hogs also particularly lower. The better feeling in the market for American bacon here continues, and buyers operate with less reserve all round owing to the scarcity of best cured Danish and Irish procurable, unobtainable, with Canadian only in limited supply. American Wiltshires meet a fair demand, and bellies scarce and wanted; while backs are in good request for Ireland, and, being difficult to find, Cumberlands in consequence are moving with more freedom, though there are plentiful supplies of the latter. HAMS remain scarce, and firm, with holders still insisting on a proportion of bacon being taken in conjunction. Shoulders in but moderate request, square cut again attracting chief attention owing to the shortage of hams. LARD on the spot in free supply of American refined, but only moderately active; prime steam, however, still scarce. CHEESE again fairly active at 1/31 per lb. controlled delivered to retailers. BUTTER in small compass, and next week's allotment of 1½ ounces per head eagerly looked for. EGGS firm for Irish, but, owing to scarcity at increased prices of 24/6 to 25/-, with duck 33/- to 36/-, and Egyptian 16/8 per 120.

JAMES J. HALPIN, Wholesale Bacon Merchant, 18-19 Thomas st., Dublin. Telegrams—"Middles." 'Phone 1716. Specialising in O'Mara's, Ltd., products.—(Advt.)

DUBLIN VEGETABLE, Thursday.—Good seasonable supplies of vegetables on market. Steady sale of everything. Rhubarb, 3/- to 4/6 and 4/9 per dozen; apples, Irish 24/- to 32/- and 34/- per barrel; cauliflowers, 3/- to 4/- per dozen; carrots, 1/6 to 1/9 and 2/- per dozen bunches; spinach cheap. York cabbage, 25/- to 40/-, and 45/-, and extras, 55/- to 68/- per load; Savoy, 5/- to 12/-, 14/-, and 20/- per load, poor stuff; parsley, 1/6 to 2/- per tray; swedes, 2/10 to 3/3 and 3/7 per cwt.; leeks, 2d. to 4d. per bunch; white turnips, 5d. to 8d.; thyme, 4d. to 9d.

DUBLIN FISH, Thursday.—There was a fair all round supply of fish, including country and local arrivals, besides a delivery of 420 boxes from two steam trawlers. Also on market 32 boxes salmon, 8 chests lobsters, and 140 packages herrings. Prices were satisfactory for best fresh descriptions of all classes of fish, but coarse and stale stuff could only be realised at some disadvantage. However, the market sold up steadily. Salmon has gone down nearly 1/- per lb. from Holy Week average. Prices worked out on the following basis:—Salmon, 3/3 to 3/9 per lb.; best lobsters, 20/- to 25/-; seconds, 10/- to 15/-, and small, 6/- to 8/- per 12; turbot, 2/- to 15/- each, and brill, 2/- to 6/- each; large soles, 30/- to 40/- per 8 and 9 pairs; mediums, 20/- to 25/-, and slips, 10/- to 15/-; large plaice, 4/- to 5/- per 4; mediums, 3/- to 5/- per 6 and 8; plaice, per half box, from 30/- to 60/-; cod fish, 25/- to 40/-; hake, 40/- to 50/-; pollock, 25/- to 35/-; ling, 20/- to 30/-; white soles, 30/- to 40/-; ray, 20/- to 25/-; congers, 20/- to 40/-; haddock, 30/- to 40/-; gurnard, 8/- to 10/- per half box; herrings up to 15/- per box and 17/6 per barrel.

BILLINGSGATE FISH, Thursday.—Supply liberal; demand quiet. Salmon, 4/- to 4/6; salmon trout, 2/- to 2/6; soles, 1/3 to 1/6; slips, 1/2 to 1/4 per lb.; turbot, 9/- to 11/-; brill, 9/-; plaice, 7/- to 9/-; halibut, 18/- to 20/-; lemon soles, 15/-; cod, 5/- to 8/-; whiting, 4/- to 6/-; hake, 11/-; gurnet, 6/-; haddocks, 4/- to 6/-; skate wings, 7/- to 8/-; conger eels, 4/6 to 7/6 per stone.

BUTTER.—CORK, Thursday.—Firsts, 327/-; fresh butter, 338/-.

PRODUCE.—LONDON, Thursday.—SUGAR—Market quiet; unchanged for manufacturing parcels. COFFEE—Spot lots quietly steady; futures dull; May quoted 124/6, July 116/6, September 115/6, December 112/6 per cwt. COCOA—Market virtually closed; also TEA. SPICE—Pepper steady; quiet; fair black Singapore spot 8⅛d. Aleppy 8d.; white Singapore spot 1/3, Muntok ditto 1/3⅛. Zanzibar Cloves—Spot 2/1⅛. Pimento 6d. FLAKE TAPIOCA—Spot buyers of fair at 3⅛d. per lb. SAGO FLOUR—Spot 26/-. Japanese Patna—Spot 33/-. JUTE—Market remains quiet, and general position more or less nominal, both buyers and sellers showing but little disposition to trade. Calcutta Hessians and Twills quietly steady. HEMP—Manila quiet, and J grade April-June quoted £67 per ton; New Zealand, and also Italian, meets with but little support at the moment. SHELLAC—Market generally quiet. COPRA quiet. RUBBER steady, but rather unsettled with regard to forward positions; plantation crepe spot sold 2/3, April 2/3⅛ to 2/3, May-June 2/3⅛, July-December sold 2/5⅛ to 2/5, October-December 2/5⅛, ribbed sheet spot sold 2/3⅛ to 2/3⅛, April 2/3⅛ to 2/3⅛, fine hard Para spot 2/3⅛ per lb. OILS—Linseed easier; spot nominal. Rape—Crude spot 120/-. China Wood—Hankow spot 145/-. Soya—Afloat and April-June 87/6. Palm—Softs for shipment, 87/-. Turpentine easier; American spot 208/-, May-August 167/-. Cotton, Castor, Cocoanut, Petroleum, and Rosin unaltered. OILSEEDS—Linseed flat. Rape dull. Cottonseed dull and weak. Gingelley and Castor unaltered.

CLYDE CRUSHED SUGAR, Thursday.—Market firm.

LIVERPOOL COTTON (Closing), Thursday.—American improved request. Brazilian quotations reduced 11 points. East Indian unchanged. Egyptian—Business insufficient. April 26.00d., May 25.85d., June 25.37d., July 24.93d., August 24.55d., September 23.92d. Sales 4,000 bales. Imports 19,423 bales. Market quiet.

WOOL.—BRADFORD, Thursday.—There is not much business passing, and most sections are adopting a waiting policy. Prices remain very firm on the higher level and topmakers adopt a very independent attitude. Yarns are difficult to buy at advanced prices, especially twofolds, owing to spinners being covered for long periods ahead. Botany yarns are practically unobtainable.

LONDON METALS MARKET.

TIN further relapsed on renewed selling, cash being £6 and forward £5 10/- to £6 easier since last Wednesday's close. Cash £335 to £335 10/-, three months £335 10/- to £336, settlement price £335 10/-. Sales 600 tons, chiefly three months from £338 to £333 and £336, finally £335 10/-. COPPER declined 50/- on spot and 55/- on forward while in moderate request. Standard cash £103 10/- to £104 15/-, forward £105 5/- to £105 10/-, settlement price £103 10/-. 1,200 tons sold, three months at £106 to £104 10/- and £105 5/-; electros £112 to £114. LEAD lower. 1,500 tons sold May at £40 to £37 and £37 10/-, June £39 10/- to £38 10/-, July £39 10/- to £39 and £39 10/-. SPELTER easier. About 1,000 tons sold May £47 to £46 15/- and £47 5/-, June £47 to £48, July £48 to £49 per ton. TIN PLATES unaltered.

LONDON FREIGHTS—Thursday.

Homeward chartering shows no appreciable expansion on private account, merchants evincing little desire to operate at present, and rates largely nominal. Steamers are being booked for directed voyages at schedule rates. Homeward Plate steady. Owners ask 130/- for medium down river loading and 140/- San Lorenzo home, with additional 10/- for seeds or clipped oats. On Government account 112/6 ruling for heavy grain up river and 107/6 down river loading. Continent dull, with 150/- quoted down and 160/- up river for heavy grain South Spain, while 25 dollars quoted Buenos Ayres to New York for linseed cargoes. North American markets quiet for grain, though there is some inquiry for flour to Trieste at 117/6 and Alexandria 135/- per ton. American coals in steady request at 13 dollars River Plate, 13 dollars Rotterdam, 13½ dollars Antwerp, 21 dollars Hamburg. Canadian lumber rates at 300/- per standard, and Gulf 485/- U.K., with 400/- South Africa. Nitrate from the West Coast of South America nominally 150/- U.K., with 130/- quoted South Africa. Cuban sugar moves off at limitations rates home, with 140/- to 142/6 obtainable to Continent. Eastern markets remain dull. Karachi Bombay quoted 160/- scale basis, and 110/- dead weight home, while rice Saigon to Cuba is quoted come at 160/-. Australia unaltered. South African coals quiet, 55/- Colombo and 80/- Aden. Time chartering steady, quiet on the basis of 23/6 to 24/- for British steamers twelve months' timechart. Mission can quote for Spanish ports. Outward coal markets firm for Italian ports, but quiet for near Continental destinations. Coastal rates firm. Fixture—Steamer Bilbao to Middlesbro', April, 35/-.

J.B.
Side Spring Corsets
The Corsets of Distinction.

Model 1600.

Figure Control.

THE days are past when the figure controlled the Corset. The Corset is now designed to control the figure, and the J.B. double front-lacing corset is the ideal model for the woman of to-day. The front-lacing principal allows perfect adjustment, and gives complete control over the figure, avoiding any unequal support. The perfect cut, designing and close study to hygienic principles makes this new lacing-model most comfortable to wear. The closed back gives the fashionable and delightful figure line, obviating the unsightly broad appearance across the lower back.

Every point that can make for comfort has been introduced in this new model. The elastic gores under the arms allow free body movement and the broad elastic web at the bottom of the skirt is an acquisition when comfort is a feature.

Wearers of this new laced front model will experience a comfort in corsets that was never thought possible to be attained.

Masterfront construction has also been introduced in this new model. This feature solves the problem of corset weakness, as the busk edge is reinforced by a double thickness of its own material.

Front Laced from £1-1 to £6-6.
See the initials J.B. inside every pair.
